RE: REQUEST FOR WAIVER OF JOB POSTING REQUIREMENT

Posting job openings on our website and other recruiting sites support our ability to attract quality candidates, as well as enabling our current employees to seek positions to further their career growth at the University. Posting also meets our state and federal obligations as a major research institution and employer, which includes conducting competitive searches and posting positions. The following information answers frequently asked questions regarding job posting requirements.

What positions qualify for job posting?

Full-time Faculty and Staff positions, as well as part-time, benefits-eligible positions.

What positions do not require posting?

Reclassifications

Position funded by grants and current staff member listed by name on grant applications or employment contract.
Internal Promotions where the employee remains in the same department.

How do I utilize the job posting tool?

Posting on the University's jobsite, www.Drexeljobs.com, may be accomplished by contacting your HR Business Partner to assist you with the process.

What is the time requirement for a job posting?

A minimum of five business days on the www.Drexeljobs.com website is required. Copies of additional advertisements placed elsewhere should be retained as part of the University records for the search.

What is a Waiver of Search Process and when is it used?

The reasons for waiving a job posting are based on special circumstances, which must be approved and documented via a waiver prior to making a job offer. Examples of special circumstances are illustrated on the form.

If a posting waiver is approved, a requisition and a request to hire still must be submitted and approved through Drexeljobs.com in addition to an application submitted from the hire. Your HR Business Partner will note and track the waivers approval status through this site.

Please note that if an individual is appointed to a position not previously posted, and the position later meets the job posting criteria, the position must be posted.

Procedures

Each posting waiver should be e-mailed to your HR Business Partner, along with a copy of the candidates' resume and a copy of the job description

Questions about the implementation of these procedures should be referred to your HR Business Partner (<http://www.drexel.edu/hr/about/contact/businesspartners/>).

Thank you for your support of this important recruiting practice which is intended to attract the best talent to our University!
