INDEPENDENT STUDY IN PSYCHOLOGY

PURPOSE: To provide the opportunity for a graduate student to engage in the study of a particular area of clinical psychology that is not covered in-depth by an existing course. Typically, this independent study would focus on a narrower topic (e.g., mood disorder, advanced educational psychology, psychology of sleep etc.) than a given course (e.g., abnormal psychology). Moreover, the nature of the study would be more in-depth that can be accomplished in a traditional course.

PROCESS: The interested student needs to: (a) have a faculty sponsor willing to mentor such a course; (b) develop, along with the faculty member, a plan of study for this course; and (c) develop, along with the faculty sponsor, a formal means of evaluating the student’s work for this course (e.g., formal test, research proposal).

Please note that the title of the independent study needs to be 30 characters or less including spaces

 In order to be registered for such a course, THIS FORM HAS TO BE COMPLETED BY THE END OF WEEK 2 OF THE ADD/DROP PERIOD FOR EACH TERM

Name of Student__________________________  ID#________________________

Student Email Address __________________________

Name of faculty sponsor______________________________

Title of Course _______________________________________

Number of Credit (s)__________  Term:__________  Academic Year:__________

Brief Description of Proposed Course of Study

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

Plan of Student Evaluation

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

Approvals

Student’s Signature ______________________________________ Date ____________

Faculty Sponsor’s Signature ______________________________________ Date ____________

Program Director’s Signature ______________________________________ Date ____________

Psy _____  Section _____  CRN ___________