NEW MEMBER EDUCATOR/INTAKE COORDINATOR TIPS

The position of new member educator/intake coordinator is crucial for the success of a chapter or colony. It is your charge to educate the new members not only on organizations songs and history but also the values the fraternity/sorority holds fast to. Below are tips that can help ensure the success of your new member education/intake program.

- 1) The basis of all new member education should be the values of the organization.
- 2) Review and understand the ritual. Since the basis of the program should be the ritual, the new member educator should have a good understanding of it. Read over the ritual and think on how the values and principles of the organization are being transmitted to the new members. Further before each ceremony review the entire ceremony, especially your speaking parts.
- 3) The new member education/intake program should be absent of all forms of hazing; mental, physical, and emotional. Hazing is not only against the law but it contradicts your ritual and founding principles.
- 4) There is a difference between making something difficult for the sake of being difficult or making something challenging for a purpose. Being challenging can provide good learning opportunities. Be challenging but stay within the framework of the ritual.
- 5) Be the ultimate role model. The brother/sister that the new members will look to the most is you. If your behavior is proper and you are a model citizen they will recognize this, however if you are acting out of line and representing the fraternity/sorority in a poor way they will see this as well. Remember their minds are easily molded and what they see as a new member is how they will most likely act as a member. In simpler words, 'Live the Ritual'... everyday.
- 6) Have fun. The new member education period is a time to build strong relationships with the new members. They would not desire membership if they are not having fun. The new member education program can seem lengthy and tedious for the them. Keep them upbeat about the program and becoming a brother/sister. Have fun social activities and brotherhood/sisterhood events.
- 7) Remember that while new members do not yet wear the Badge of the organization they do bear the name. They too are a representation of the Fraternity/Sorority and the chapter. They should understand this point. Further they deserve the same respect that members hold for each other. It is vital that the new members feel like a part of the chapter even if they are not yet initiated.
- 8) Include them in discussions that affect the direction of the chapter. They will be the next generation to carry its banner. Their input should be considered in the decision making process, even if they are given no formal voting power.
- 9) Utilize your resources. There are many people on campus who are there to help fraternities/sororities better themselves such as the FSL staff, faculty/staff advisors, and other professionals. Use the person when you have questions or concerns. They have good ideas and examples of how to better the education process.
- 10) Include the chapter in the new member education process, keeping in mind that there will be people who want to deviate from the program. Have a few at new member meetings, set up events with different classes, etc. This will allow brothers/sisters to be involved and connect with them.
- 11) Ask brothers/sisters and new members for feedback. They are a good resource that is often untapped. Further by asking for feedback it can help improve your chapter while also including them in the process.
- 12) Chapter and New Member Class Mentality or Chapter vs. New Member Class Mentality. The chapter and new members should bond together. It is more important to create strong chapter unity rather than new member class unity. Often classes only act as a class, creating four smaller groups within a larger group. By increasing chapter unity the chapter will have more fun, increase productivity, and develop stronger relationships.

POLICIES, REQUIREMENTS, AND EXPECTATIONS: HAZING

Drexel Hazing Policy & Definition – Student Handbook

Hazing activities in any form are prohibited. The University supports and will strictly enforce the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania’s anti-hazing law, Act 175 of 1986. This law defines hazing as “any action or situation which recklessly or intentionally endangers the mental or physical health of a student or willfully destroys or removes public or private property for the purpose of initiation or admission into or affiliation with, or as a condition for continued membership in any organization operating under the sanction of or recognized as an organization by an institution of higher education. The term shall include but not be limited to any brutality of a physical nature, such as whipping, beating, branding, forced calisthenics, exposure to the elements, forced consumption of any food, liquor, drug, or other substance, or other forced physical activity which could adversely affect the physical health and safety of the individual and shall include any activity which would subject the individual to extreme mental stress, such as sleep deprivation, forced exclusion from social contact, forced conduct which could result in extreme embarrassment, or any other forced activity which could adversely affect the mental health or dignity of the individual, or any willful destruction or removal of public or private property. For the purposes of this definition, any activity as described in this definition upon which the initiation or admission into or affiliation with or continued membership in an organization is directly or indirectly conditioned shall be presumed to be ‘forced’ activity, the willingness of an individual to participate in such activity notwithstanding.”

In addition, the University adheres to the Fraternity Executives Association’s definition of hazing: “...any action taken or situation created, intentionally, whether on or off University or fraternity/sorority premises, to produce mental or physical discomfort, embarrassment, harassment, or ridicule. Such activities and situations include paddling in any form, creation of excessive fatigue, physical and psychological shock... or any other such activities, wearing publicly apparel which is conspicuous and not normally in good taste, engaging in public stunts and buffoonery, morally degrading or humiliating games and activities, late work sessions which interfere with scholastic activities, and any other activities which are not consistent with fraternal law, ritual, or policy or regulations and policies of the educational institution.”

Individuals and/or organizations as a whole found in violation of this policy will be subject to disciplinary action.

POLICIES, REQUIREMENTS, AND EXPECTATIONS: BIG BROTHER/SISTER PROGRAM EXPECTATIONS

Big Brother/Sister Program – Example #1

The big brother/sister is a very important part of the membership orientation program. Regardless of what name your chapter uses for these members, the goals of the program are the same. The relationship between a big brother/sister and a little brother/sister often lasts much longer than the initiation/new member period. It becomes meaningful to them during both undergraduate and graduate years. The big brother/sister should not only see that his little is initiated, but that he/she also enjoys a strong collegiate experience and receives his degree.

Selection Process

The selection process for big brothers should not be hasty or random. The big brother/sister program and its full intent should be reviewed during the first week of the program. After a full understanding and a conscious decision, the big brother/sister selection should take place. Each new member will list his/her first three preferences for a big brother/sister. The New Member Educator and his/her committee will match the members with new members using proper judgment. Prior to the big brother/sister announcement, all members selected should be asked if they are willing to participate.

Responsibilities of the Big Brothers/Sisters

- Monitor academic performance and report progress to scholarship chairman
- Assist in the Little Brother/Sister's social adjustment
- Establish a relationship with the parents of the new member through letters and telephone calls
- Act as a sounding board when needed and report the new member's progress towards initiation to the chapter's New Member Educator
- Ensure Little Brother understands and fulfills requirements for initiation (GPA, campus involvement, involvement within chapter, etc.)
- Attend and participate in all activities that require Big Brother Attendance
- Give introduction and explanation of chapter history and traditions
- Hold weekly meetings with the Little Brother

Responsibilities of the Little Brothers

- Meet with his Big Brother at least once a week
- Not select a best friend, but an ideal person to emulate
- Demand continual involvement from his Big Brother
- Discuss any difficulties or problems with his Big Brother
- Use his Big Brother as a link for fraternal, academic, and social information
- Expect his Big Brother to perform the responsibilities listed above

Selection Criteria for Big Brothers

Members being considered as a Big Brother should meet the following criteria:

- Be in good standing with the chapter
- Be at or above the all-men's GPA

- Serve as a positive role model for his Little Brother
- Have similar fraternal and personal interests
- Have the time necessary to spend with Little Brother and attend related activities and meetings
- Responsible and dependable
- Possess the ability to motivate and inspire
- Maintain a positive, outgoing attitude toward the school and chapter
- Ability to counsel and advise Little Brother

Big Brother/Sister Program – Example #2

The duties of the Big Brother include:

- Attending all of the new member education sessions with his/her Little Brother/Sister
- Being aware of the Little Brother's academic progress and ensuring that he is maintaining at least the minimum academic requirements set by the chapter
- Assisting the new member in meeting the other members of the chapter
- Acting as a true brother/sister, friend, and mentor through the years
- Helping provide meaningful new member programs and activities to help the new member learn about the history and colony operations of the Fraternity/Sorority
- Giving his little Brother the benefit of support and experience so that he may obtain a high level of scholarship, maturity, and awareness which, when united with genuine love and concern for his fellow man, will make him a well-rounded individual and true brother/sister
- Writing a welcome letter to his Little Brother's parents
- Teaching leadership and responsibility by example
- Agreeing to be the new member's Big Brother for LIFE

Example #3

As stated previously, expectations upon you are greater than that of a regular college student. For this, we have defined the minimum expectations for you below. These expectations are for both initiated and new members.

1. Be involved. You will not learn if you do not attempt. Each new member is required to attend all new member meetings and activities. The majority of work done in our chapter is done by showing up. Not only should you be active in the fraternity, but you are also expected to be active in other campus organizations.
2. Be studious. A new member must attain at least a 2.75 GPA to be initiated. Initiated members must maintain at least a 2.75 to hold an office, 2.5 to remain in good standing with the chapter.
3. Be an example. You represent our fraternity/sorority as a whole. Your actions can bring fame or shame upon the chapter. Always act in ways becoming of a member of our organization.
4. Be interested. Many new things will be put upon you during the new member process. Learning our history and songs, helping the community, and most important, helping those you will call brother/sister throughout your lifelong membership.
5. Be vocal. Your opinions and concerns are ours. Each member should have his/her own opinions on the functions and proceedings of the chapter. Great chapters spurn from great ideas.
6. Be assertive. In your pursuits in life you will find that taking charge of situations are much better than waiting for them to happen.
7. Be honest with yourself and others. Nothing wrong can come from the truth. As the golden rule says, "Do unto others as you would have done to you".
8. Be proud. You are now part of a continuing history of members who strive for excellence. Follow in the path that has been paved for you and learn from it.
9. Be accepting. You are part of an organization made up of unique individual membership. Try to learn about those around you. Respect their ideas and identities even if they are different from your own.

These expectations are not unattainable. They merely involve living to the best of your abilities.

This standard will also be enforced with all initiated members
- o We are a non-hazing organization. If there is ever any time you feel you are being hazed, no matter how small it might seem, you must talk to the new member educator or president immediately. This has not been a problem with our chapter, and we are confident it won't happen, but if it does, don't be afraid to speak up. The chapter leadership will not let it continue.
- o Please avoid cliques. Get to know all the members of your class and the organization

Building the Ideal New Member Program

Adapted from Breaking Down Hazing and Building up Brotherhood, a National Interfraternity Conference Resource

Pull together the executive board of the chapter, new member education committee or other small groups of members from throughout the chapter to be involved in this reflection.

As individuals, from the list below, choose nine essential pieces of the new member program. If you wish to add to the list, you may.

History	Brotherhood/Sisterhood	Awareness
Community Service	Leadership	Ritual Education
Values & Ethics	Time Management	Social
Scholarship	Intramurals	Campus Involvement
Alumni	Risk Management	Diversity

As a small group, reach consensus on six pieces of an ideal new member program. Make sure that everyone is satisfied with the final decision before moving on.

- 6.

As a larger group, each small group should write their list on newsprint. The large group should then decide which qualities best represent the organization/are repeated the most.

List the qualities below:

As a small group, brainstorm one activity/event for each characteristic decided upon by the chapter. So if the chapter identified six characteristics, each small group should have six activities.

As a large group chapter, share the activities that have been created by the small groups and forward to the new member education committee for their review. An example of what might result is as follows:

Week 1 Focus on history

Have new members select an area of chapter history about which they will research and write an essay

Week 2 Focus on education

Conduct programs on time management, study skills, university resources, etc.
Have study tables for both new members and actives.
Establish a peer-mentoring study program.
Implement a weekly, written, academic progress report

Week 3 Focus on brotherhood/sisterhood

Have an all-chapter teambuilding and goal-setting retreat.
Have a sports competition between new member classes.

Week 4 Focus on awareness

Have seminars on risk management, sexual assault, health issues, conflict management, alcohol and other drugs, etc.
Help new members understand all university policies and procedures.
Attend a diversity program on campus

Week 5 Focus on service

Have new members organize a community service event for the entire chapter.
Have community members share the importance of community service & philanthropy.

Week 6 Focus on leadership

Have a leadership development program for new members.
Have chapter officers share what their responsibilities include.
Have new members set long-term goals for the chapter which they can help realize.

Week 7 Focus on values

Have members facilitate a discussion with new members about the meaning of creed, ritual, founding values and principles.
Have brothers share what the chapter means to them through pass-the-gavel-type activities.
Invite alumni back to share what the fraternity means to them beyond college.

The Trinity of New Member Education

The three fundamental responsibilities of a new member educator form The Trinity. It is important to create a new member education program that is balanced, well planned and focused on the development of great brothers/sisters and not obedient new members. A successful NME focuses on the intersection of The Trinity and a well-rounded experience.

Mentoring and Accountability

Modeling Good Behavior

- Complete a written new member education program and get it certified by your chapter advisor or executive office annually. This ensures a written plan of action every year!
- Encourage timely attendance and participation of designated sisters at each new member meeting to reinforce the idea that an entire chapter is responsible for the education of the new member class.
- Host chapter events like service projects, intramural sports, serenades and goal setting retreats in the beginning of the pledging period and include the new member class. Stress that strong attendance from the sisterhood will instill a sense of duty and pride within the new member class. LEAD BY EXAMPLE!
- Host academic study tables for the new member class led by the scholarship chairman and active sisters
- Include the ENTIRE chapter in house cleaning or repair projects at all time. More hands make the work go faster and you are instilling pride in every member, not just the newest.
- Have officers attend new member meetings and explain their roles and duties.
- Develop written expectations of a mentor (Big Sister/Little Sister) and schedule events that promote relationships. Remember to review the expectations!

Providing Clear Expectations

- Develop a written calendar of new member class and chapter events in advance and distribute it at the beginning of the pledging process. Update this calendar throughout the semester if dates and activities change.
- Develop a list of new member expectations with the sisterhood and then ask for new member class input during the first new member meeting. These standards should address attendance, performance areas such as service and conduct expected of a new member of your chapter. (“Expectations of a New Member”)
- Develop a list of membership expectations with the sisterhood and publish this in the new member program and the chapter by-laws. These expectations should be in alignment with what is expected of a new member of the chapter. This encourages accountability at all levels. (“Expectations of a Sister”)
- Include the new member review policy and point system in the written new member program and explain it during the first new member meeting. Chapter officers or advisors may also explain the corresponding system that exists in the active chapter.
- Outline the actions unbecoming of a new member and active member and publish them in the new member program. Review these actions and their consequences carefully.
- Know and understand the chapter’s bylaws and code as well as all university, PHA, OFSL and General Fraternity policies. Educate the new member class on these policies early and often. (PHA and OFSL policies can be found on p. TKTK)

Positive Accountability System

- Post a list of the “Expectations of a New Member” and “Expectations of a Sister” in a public place.
- Include the new member review policy and point system in the written new member program and explain it during the first new member meeting. Chapter officers or advisors may also explain the corresponding system that exists in the active chapter.

- Schedule round tables for the new member class to encourage honest feedback within the class.
- As a new member educator, take feedback on what the new members feel is going well and what needs to change at regular intervals (timing will depend on the time frame of your education program). Continual feedback will hold everyone accountable.
- Base accountability measures around activities that promote the values and principles of the fraternity, i.e. service hours, study hours.
- Know and understand the chapter's by-laws and code as well as all university, PHA, OFSL, and General Fraternity policies. Educate the new member class on these policies early and often.

Educating Future Chapter Leaders

- Base the education on the history and symbols of the fraternity/sorority and use the chapter breakdown and processing questions during meeting.
- Document important information about the founding and history of your chapter and Greek life at NU (next session) and provide it as an educational packet.
- Use different teaching styles to relay important information such as lecture, group discussion, having the group “turn and buzz” about a topic, assigned teachings by the new member class members, group reports researched and written with sisters, skits, drawings and guest speakers.
- Use alternative testing styles such as group testing teams, game-show competitions and essay tests but stay away from random written or verbal quizzes.
- Elect a chapter chorister to teach songs to the new member class each week.
- Sing at every new member meeting and build up to a serenade with the sisters.
- Sing to parents, alumni and guests at chapter events.
- Have officers serve as guest speakers each new member meeting to explain their duties and responsibilities.
- Elect new member class officers with written duties that are similar to chapter officer duties and have them shadow chapter officers.
- Mimic the format of a chapter meeting within the new member education meeting to familiarize the new member class with the procedure.
- Invite the new member class to appropriate portions of chapter meetings.

Building Brotherhood/Sisterhood and Leadership

- Include team building activities in each new member class meeting, such as:
 - Ropes course
 - Service events planned by the new member class
 - Recruitment events planned by the new member class
 - Round tables
 - Members of the new member class teach a section of the information each week
 - New members pair to shadow an officer for a week and then report back at meeting
 - Singing at each meeting
 - Team builders from the General Fraternity or university (ask Jenni, Dominic, Danny for more resources)
- Include the new member class in chapter events such as:
 - Philanthropy or service events

- The appropriate portion of chapter meetings
 - Intramural sporting events
 - University education sessions
 - Goal setting retreats
- Have officers set goals that are shared with the new member class as well as the active chapter.
- Ask your leadership consultant to present to the new member class on General Fraternity leadership opportunities and assist in registering interested men.
- Budget for travel to encourage members to attend General Fraternity/Sorority leadership opportunities.
- Host a ritual practice before the performance of every ceremony to make sure everything goes off without a hitch.
- Host a post-ritual review for the new member class and the chapter after each ceremony. Please request a facilitator guide from your leadership consultant.

- A. Purpose and goals of the program
- B. Responsibilities of the associates/new members/pledges related to:
 - History/information
 - Standards, By-laws, Constitution, Policies
 - Academic requirements
 - Financial obligations
 - Housing/live-in requirements

Inspiration/Initiation Week Activities. Inspiration week is intended to be a memorable time, where the new member learns many special rituals and accepts the final commitment to lifelong membership into the organization.

Things to remember

Chapter activities that involve new members should NEVER involve alcohol.

The new member calendar should not be overwhelming. No activity should go past midnight nor begin prior to 8 AM. Adequate time should be reserved for studying, at least 15 hours during the week and 10 hours on the weekend.

PLANNING: FOCUS ON RETENTION

Membership Development: Six Retention Ideas, adapted from Rotary International

“Keeping the Member in the Fraternity/Sorority — Keeping the Fraternity/Sorority in the Member”

Action steps:

- o INFORM
- o INVITE
- o INDUCT
- o ORIENT
- o EDUCATE
- o INVOLVE

1. INFORM all non-members of the organizations programs and outline the chapter’s service efforts. A chapter should develop and make public a chapter profile. This document could be added as a part of the website or other publications.

2. INVITE a prospective member to meet with an executive board member and a member of the Membership/Recruitment Committee. The visit could be done with one member, but a second member provides additional knowledge and experience and gives the prospective member another point of contact after being accepted into the fraternity/sorority. During the visit/meeting, the prospective member should hear a description of:

- o Community service efforts and successes
- o The international scope of brotherhood/sisterhood internationally or through the alumni connection
- o The organization’s emphasis on high standards of character and integrity
- o The organization’s broad-based community representation and diversity
- o The organization’s involvement requirements and dues structure

Members extending the invitation must be well prepared and should consider ahead of time the personal interests and abilities of the prospective member in order to highlight areas of potential personal involvement.

3. INDUCT new members in a dignified and meaningful manner. If possible, invite family to attend. The induction ceremony should be used as an opportunity to underscore the benefits and responsibilities of being a member. A new member should be provided with:

- o A copy of all organization policies
- o A chapter, regional and national directory
- o A recent copy of a chapter newsletter or national magazine
- o A schedule of meetings
- o The organization history, creed, and symbols

The induction ceremony should be special. It should imprint on the new member an enthusiasm for membership.

4. ORIENT the new member properly. Providing an effective orientation for new members through education is vital to their growth as individuals and members and will enable them to participate effectively in organization activities.

- a) The three key elements to an effective orientation include:
 - o Benefits of membership
 - o Responsibilities of membership

- o Opportunities for service
- b) New members should be given a checklist outlining the many opportunities for gaining knowledge about the organization and becoming involved in chapter activities. The new member educator should deliver this information within one week of induction and provide guidance on completing each step of new member education.
- c) A new member's orientation should also include several opportunities for feedback on a wide range of issues, including the process and results of the orientation program itself. Effective feedback includes a mechanism for reporting comments to the chapter president, the new member educator, and other chapter officers as appropriate.
- d) Consider periodic meetings between new members and the executive board, along with new member forums (facilitated by new member educator) with the entire chapter
- e) Consider scheduling the formal orientation programs in several smaller sessions to enhance retention of information.

5. EDUCATE the new member. Most members leave our ranks because they were never really engaged in the first place. An argument can be made that most of the organization's membership knows very little about it. Education can come about it two ways:

- a) Completing the items listed below within six months will expand a new member's vision about opportunities for service.
 - i. Attend new member orientation meeting(s)
 - ii. Read the history of the organization
 - iii. Wear new member pin with pride
 - iv. Attend one or more of the following chapter functions:
 - o Brotherhood/Sisterhood Activity
 - o Chapter Meeting
 - o Committee meeting
 - o Service Project
- b) Expand the organization to others
 - o Invite a guest to a chapter event
 - o Propose a new member
- c) Experience the far reach of the organization
 - o Host a member from another chapter of your organization
 - o Host a member of another chapter on campus for dinner
 - o Host a member of the national organization staff
- d) Attend a regional meeting or training
- e) Serve on a committee

The chapter must make certain it has a continuing education policy in place. This education process is essential for older members as well as newer ones. Research has shown that a positive program of continuing education can help increase a chapter's overall retention rate. Such a program would include some of the following components:

- o Frequent communication of organization news and information
- o At least four programs a year focused on continuing education
- o Attendance at multi-chapter meetings that focus on continuing education
- o Personal involvement of members in chapter and regional projects and activities, particularly those that require hands-on action
- o Stimulating and efficiently run weekly meetings that keep members interested
- o Sharing of ideas and information on chapter programs, projects, and activities at regular committee and fireside meetings
- o Attendance at meetings of other chapters

These ideas are meant solely to educate the members about the organization. Experience shows that when one is knowledgeable about the organization, and involved, the chances for retaining a solid member are much greater.

6. INVOLVE the member in committees, fund raisers, board meetings, chapter meetings, social activities, etc. There is nothing sadder in a chapter than to find a letter of resignation because a member didn't feel "a part" of the organization. Some methods of getting new members involved in the affairs and activities of the chapter include:

- o Creating a friendly and informal atmosphere through small group meetings and programs to help new members get acquainted with each other and some of the older members.
- o Hold an information program for new members.
- o Assign a new member a simple task in a project, such as introducing a guest speaker
- o Have new members assist with a regional meeting. Through this the new member learns much more about the organization and the vast projects beyond the borders of his/her own chapter. Some chapters assist the new member by paying part or all of the registration fees and costs of the conference. After the conference, ask the new members to give a report to the chapter about what they learned.
- o Introduce a family tree program, where all members who are in the same family tree work together on a project or meet on a special occasion.
- o Ask the new member - especially the younger ones - to find two or three other new members from among his/her peer group. When one "sells" the fraternity/sorority to one's friends, the member himself/herself becomes stronger and more enthused about the organization. We therefore address both the need for retention and the challenge of membership growth

In all of this, many clubs find it wise to involve the new member's mentor/Big Brother/Big Sister. The mentor keeps close contact with the new member - perhaps for the first six months or so - until the new member is truly involved in the organization.
