

POLICY: REASONABLE ACCOMMODATION OF INDIVIDUALS WITH DISABILITIES

POLICY NUMBER: OED-2

Effective Date: July 2002

Revisions: July 2015

Responsible Officer: Executive Vice President, Treasurer, and Chief Operating Officer

I. PURPOSE

Drexel University is committed to providing reasonable accommodations to qualified individuals with disabilities in order to provide to them equal educational and employment access and opportunity, including an equal opportunity to compete in the hiring process, to successfully perform during the course of their education or employment, and to participate fully in all programs and activities.

II. POLICY

Drexel provides reasonable accommodations to students, employees, and applicants who document their disability with the Disability Resources.

III. ELIGIBILITY

Qualified individuals with disabilities who are applicants, employees and/or students may be eligible for reasonable accommodations.

Campus guests who have a disability and need an accommodation should contact the Disability Resources.

IV. DEFINITIONS

Disability is any physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities.

Qualified Individual with a Disability is an individual with a disability, who is capable of performing the essential functions of a particular job or of participating in a particular course of study, with or without reasonable accommodations for his/her disability.

Qualified Student with a Disability is a student with a disability who meets the academic and technical standards required for admission or participation in the University's educational program or activity.

Reasonable Accommodation is any modification or adjustment that “levels the playing field” and enables a qualified student, applicant, or employee with a disability to enjoy equal educational or employment opportunities and participate fully in all programs and activities. A modification or adjustment is not reasonable if it imposes an undue burden on the University or fundamentally alters an educational program.

Essential Functions means the fundamental job duties of the position the individual with a disability holds or desires. The term “essential functions” does not include the marginal functions of the position. A job function may be considered essential for any of several reasons, including, but not limited to the following:

- a) the position exists to perform the function;
- b) there are a limited number of employees available who could perform the function; and/or
- c) the function is highly specialized so that the incumbent in the position is hired for his or her expertise or ability to perform the particular function.
