General Management and Leadership

University, College and Department Service

2024-2025	Member of the Dept Head Evaluation Criteria Committee of the College of Arts and Sciences
2022-2023	Member of the Intensive Courses Abroad Committee of the College of Arts and Sciences, Drexel University
2019-2022	Member of the Budget Committee of the College of Arts and Sciences. Drexel University
2019-2022	Member of the Research Committee of the College of Arts and Sciences, Drexel University
2018--...	As the Dept Head of Communication at Drexel University, I am in charge of running a Department of 15 full professors, and many adjuncts, with a BA/BS, two master's programs and a PhD program, all have which have been revised under my leadership. I am a member of the College Dept Heads Committee. I am currently restructuring the Department following budget cuts relating to covid-19 impact on US Higher Education.
2012-2015	Dean , College of Political and Social Sciences, University of Antwerp (B). As the Dean, I was in charge of a College with over 2000 students, 300 academic and administrative members of staff and, originally, three departments (Communication Studies, Political Science, Sociology). I was responsible for the integration of a four department (Education). I was in charge of appointments and allocation of resources. I negotiated the College's share in University resources. All departments went through a TQA during my time as a Dean. I was the first Dean to have goal oriented conversations with all academic faculty to improve working conditions and a fairer distribution of work load.
2009-2012	Associate Dean of Research , College of Political and Social Sciences, University of Antwerp (B). As Associate Dean, I was responsible for the development of research at the College, the PhD program, the External Audit of the Research programs. I set up a system of PhD lectures attracting renowned academic speakers to improve the academic profile of the College. Together with the Associate Dean of Education, I developed tenure and evaluation criteria for various faculty ranks, with an aim to better match academic responsibilities and work-life balance. I lobbied with the Doctoral School of the University to introduce courses such as time management and academic writing for PhD students.
2006-2015	Member of the College Executive Committee , as Head of Department, Associate Dean and Dean. This Committee is in charge of daily running of the College, and prepares strategic and policy points before being submitted to the Faculty Board for approval.
2006-2009	Head of Department of Communication Studies , University of Antwerp (B). This involved the running of the department as chair of the Departmental Board and of the Curriculum Committees. I guided the department through a TQA, was in charge of division of labor within the department and decisions on the profile for new faculty positions, and was responsible for PhD annual reviews.
2006-2015	Member Professorial Evaluation Committee , College of Political and Social Sciences, University of Antwerp (B). Committee in charge of evaluation of Staff. Chair of the committee when I was the Dean
2006-2015	Member Committee Academic Promotion , College of Political and Social Sciences, University of Antwerp (B). Committee in charge of tenure and staff promotion. Chair of the committee when I was the Dean
2006-2015	Member of the College Board . Chair of the board when I was the Dean.
2003-2018	Member of the College Meeting , in charge of electing Faculty management team.
2003-2018	Member Department Board of Communication Studies

2003-2012	Member of the Committee Research Strategy of the College of Political and Social Sciences: think tank for the development of faculty research strategy
2003-2006	Vice Head of Department of Communication Studies , University of Antwerp (B). In this role I played an important role in developing the move from a 2 (Candidate) + 2 (licentiate) towards a 3 (BA) + 1 (MA) structure of education, following the European Bologna Accords on comparability of quality and standards in Higher Education
2001-2018	Member of the Education Committee MA Communication Studies , University of Antwerp (B) (chair 2005-2006)
2001-2018	Member of the Exam Board MA Communication Studies , University of Antwerp (B)
2001-2018	Member of the Educational Committee BA Political and Social Sciences , University of Antwerp (B)
2001-2018	Member of the Exam Board BA Political and Social Sciences , University of Antwerp (B)

Involvement in Research program development and research leadership

At the University of Antwerp, I started and was head of the research group Media Policy & Culture, when such a structure was introduced in 2005. At that point it consisted of myself and 3 PhD students. By 2018, it consists of 2 associate professors, 2 full professors, 1 part time professor, 2 post doctoral researchers, 2 teaching assistant/PhD, 10 project funded PhD students and 11 self-funded PhD students. In the 2016 Research Quality Assessment, the group obtained the best scores of all Communication Studies groups and the second best in the College.

As Head of the College Doctoral Committee at the University of Antwerp, I took the lead in improving the College's doctoral program, with an eye to combining research excellence with the development of transferable skills while maintaining a healthy work life-balance.

As Associate Dean at the University of Antwerp, I wrote the main principles of the College's research policy and in the development of criteria for research active in a context of strong competition and extensive teaching demands. Furthermore, I was in charge of preparations of the College's Research Quality Assessment and, finally, I developed a strategy to strengthen the International visibility of the College's research status, e.g. by setting up a College Lectures series inviting international experts representative of the research fields of the College.

At Drexel University, I am a member of the College of Arts and Sciences (CoAS) Research Committee, set up to develop a long term research policy for the College and develop policy implementation instruments to further the research efforts of the College and contribute to the continued R1 status of Drexel University. Committee work has focused on research funding, developing fair course-buy-out policies applicable across the diversity of a College of Arts and Sciences.

As Head of the Department of Communication at Drexel University, I have developed a research policy for the Tenure(d) Faculty of the Department, including the development of criteria for research active and the organization of internal workshops and of a conference with international scholars.

Involvement in Course and Curriculum Development

As Dept Head at Drexel (2018-...) I have been strongly involved in curriculum development. 1) I coordinated the complete overhaul of the MS Communication (now MS in Strategic Digital Communication) and am currently oversee the revision of the BA/BS in Communication. The aim is to keep the degrees up to date and future proof to tackle the issues facing higher education in the coming decade. 2) During the pandemic, I have been very involved in moving our teaching to remote and in providing the conditions to ensure continued education while safeguarding the physical and mental wellbeing of students, faculty and staff. 3) I redesigned a writing-intensive service course so that it can be taught to larger groups of students. 4) I have been working on improving DEI in the Departmental teaching and curricula by revising syllabi to include a more diverse range of authors and perspectives.

‘The Social Scientist as Kiter’: in 2011, I received a grant from the Educational Council of the University of Antwerp to explore the actual and future use of alternative and virtual teaching tools in the context of respect for the social and cultural background of various student populations. The results of this project were the basis for the development of a University of Antwerp policy in this regard.

As Head of Department at UAntwerp (2006-2009) I was in charge of the preparation for and coordination of the Teach Quality Assessment (TQA) and was in charge of the redesign of the BA and MA program following the outcome of the TQA. As Dean I was in charge of allocating resources and approving programs of the various degrees of the Faculty of Social Sciences.

‘Developing a Work Placement Program at Academic Master level’: In 2008 I received a grant from the Educational Council of the University of Antwerp to develop a Work Placement Program at Academic Master level. The project resulted in a system of Work Placement for the department of Communication Studies and was later extended to the entire Faculty of Social Sciences. It subsequently was used as a framework for setting up such systems in other faculties of the Humanities and Social Sciences at the University of Antwerp.

As Head of the Faculty Doctoral Committee (2009-2011) I developing a range of programs to help PhD’s in the coordination of their work and Faculty in their role as supervisors. As Dean (2012-2015), I introduced a compulsory core module for all PhD students on research ethics.

Involvement in Internationalisation of Education

At Drexel, as Department Head, I focus on Internationalisation At Home through visiting professors. As a member of the Intensive Courses Abroad Committee of the College of Arts and Sciences, I am developing College-wide guidelines for such international courses.

At the University of Antwerp, I was heavily engaged in efforts to internationalize the study programs of the Department of Communication and, later, the College of Political and Social Sciences. At the University of Antwerp, the focus was on ‘Internationalisation at home’. I set up several Erasmus Faculty exchange programs, including with the University of Bergen (N), University of Oslo (N), and the University of Fribourg (CH). Furthermore, I engaged in securing funding for visiting scholars (Prof. Dr. Richard Collins, Prof. Dr. Aline Bernstein & Prof. Dr. John Ellis, amongst others) to spend time at the Department and College.

Professional service to international academic evaluation

External Teaching Program Reviews (Accreditation and TQA)

Dutch and Flemish university degrees are accredited by a Dutch/Belgian Accreditation board which organized independent audits of all programmes every five years. The Auditing Committee visits and reviews each program, and ranks them. Programs can lose their accreditation, which would mean they are no longer allowed to offer that particular degree.
