Drexel University
136th Commencement Ceremonies

PHILADELPHIA, PENNSYLVANIA

Dear Graduates,

Congratulations on reaching this major milestone in your academic career, professional development and life's journey. You can take pride in graduating from a university that, with your significant contributions, is pushing the frontiers of experiential learning, translational research and civic engagement for the benefit of humanity.

No one scales great heights of achievement alone. With mentoring from Drexel's outstanding faculty, support from your family and friends, and the benefits of learning from peers, neighbors and employers, you not only have fulfilled all the rigorous requirements of your respective schools and programs. You also have met, if not exceeded, high expectations — yours and ours. In congratulating you, I salute everyone who has played a part in your success and is sharing in this celebration.

Wherever you are headed in your professional careers and personal journeys, I hope, first, that you will never hesitate to call on our faculty and professional staff for references, counsel and friendship.

Second, I hope just as much that you will make the most of Drexel's strong global alumni network. Keep in touch with your classmates with whom you have forged special bonds. Update the Drexel Magazine staff on personal or professional milestones by writing to magazine@drexel.edu. Join Dragon Network (dragonnetwork.drexel.edu), and other alumni networks specialized around professional, cultural and personal interests. Consider becoming a volunteer to mentor current Drexel students and to advise and recruit prospective Drexel students.

And please return to campus to pay us a visit as often as you can.

We are incredibly proud to send you forth bearing a Drexel diploma, which affirms your readiness to make a positive difference in your places of work, in your creative and professional pursuits, and with the individuals and communities you will be privileged to serve. What you have achieved at Drexel, and the way you have achieved it — with integrity and respect for others — fills me with hope for the future of our country.

On behalf of the trustees, faculty and professional staff of Drexel University, I wish you a life full of joy, good health and much success.

Warm regards,

John Fry

KEYNOTE SPEAKER:PAUL CITRON '69, HD '13Prolific medical device innovator*

Paul Citron is a pioneer in developing and promoting technology that advances the utility, safety and effectiveness of implanted medical devices.

The holder of 10 medical technology patents, Mr. Citron is currently an adjunct professor at the University of California San Diego. His most notable invention is the timed cardiac pacing lead, which dramatically improved patient outcomes. The timed cardiac pacing lead reduced serious complications of spontaneous lead dislodgement, which occurred in an estimated 8 to 20 percent of patients, rendering what was once considered a state-of-the-art procedure less effective. Mr. Citron's innovation reduced dislodgement to less than 1 percent and became the pacing lead of choice among physicians, benefiting millions of patients.

Previously, Mr. Citron served as vice president of science and technology at Medtronic, the largest developer of implantable therapeutic devices and a leading innovator in the medical device industry. While at Medtronic, Mr. Citron led innovations that allowed cardiac pacing devices to more closely mimic natural function. The company named one of his inventions, which became a “treatment of choice” in the medical community for allowing reliable long-term cardiac stimulation without open-heart surgery, a “Patent of Distinction.” The science and technology group he led was also instrumental in assessing and enhancing the rigor employed by various company R&D divisions as well as expanding the state-of-the-art for implants.

Mr. Citron has also held academic positions at the Georgia Institute of Technology and the University of California San Diego, where he shared extensive insights in corporate entrepreneurship and the important role of intellectual property in a vigorous innovation ecosystem.

His service on external advisory boards includes the University of California San Diego (engineering and health divisions), the University of Washington, Georgia Tech and Drexel University.

Elected a founding fellow of the American Institute for Medical and Biological Engineering and a fellow of the National Academy of Engineering, Mr. Citron is also an elected member of the National Academy of Inventors.

He received a BS in electrical engineering at Drexel and an MSEE from the University of Minnesota. In 2013, Drexel recognized his accomplishments by conferring an honorary Doctor of Engineering degree.

Valerie A. Arkoosh

Salute to Parents, Families and FacultyRecessional*Hornpipe*
George F. HandelKEYNOTE SPEAKER:VALERIE A. ARKOOSHPhysician and champion of human services

Valerie Arkoosh was appointed by Gov. Josh Shapiro to lead the Pennsylvania Department of Human Services in 2023.

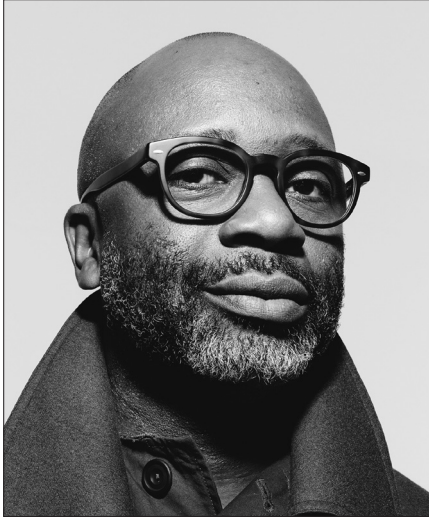

Previously, Acting Secretary Arkoosh held a seat on the Montgomery County Board of Commissioners, serving as commission vice chair until her election as chair in November 2016, when she became the first woman in this role. She was re-elected in November 2019 and unanimously chosen to continue as chair in January 2020.

As commission chair, Acting Secretary Arkoosh was committed to strengthening services for children, veterans and seniors in Pennsylvania's third most populous county. She led the efforts to eliminate homelessness of veterans and streamline delivery of human services, instituting a $15 minimum wage and gender-neutral paid parental leave for county employees. Drawing on her background as a physician, she oversaw a multi-pronged, integrated response to the opioid overdose epidemic, issuing a standing order in 2015 to enable participating pharmacies in the county to dispense the overdose antidote naloxone at the request of any member of the public.

A physician and public health professional, Acting Secretary Arkoosh was at the center of efforts to combat the COVID-19 pandemic, leading a data- and science-driven approach to the unprecedented challenge. She earned praise for her transparency and public communication throughout the pandemic. Acting Secretary Arkoosh is also a staunch advocate for maternal health and reproductive rights, and she serves on the Pennsylvania Maternal Mortality Review Committee.

Acting Secretary Arkoosh has been deeply engaged in national health care reform efforts. She led the National Physicians Alliance, a nonprofit organization of physicians, shaping policy and legislative strategy in Washington, D.C., Pennsylvania and beyond.

Previously, Acting Secretary Arkoosh was a professor of clinical anesthesiology and clinical obstetrics and gynecology at the Perelman School of Medicine of the University of Pennsylvania. A graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Medicine, she received an MPH from Johns Hopkins University.

Theaster Gates

Globally Renowned Artist Occupying the Crossroads of History, Religion, Architecture and Land Use

Theaster Gates is a multidisciplinary artist and educator who translates the intricacies of Blackness through space theory and land development, sculpture and performance. Through the expansiveness of his approach as a thinker, maker and builder, he extends the role of the artist as an agent of change. Rooting his practice in Black knowledge, objects, history and archives, Mr. Gates redeems spaces that have been left behind, demonstrating the “life within things.”

A professor of visual arts and special advisor to the president for arts initiatives at the University of Chicago, Mr. Gates has garnered international acclaim from his participation in the Whitney Biennial, documenta 13, the Aichi Triennial and the Venice Biennale, in addition to exhibitions at major museums around the world. Mr. Gates has exhibited at the New Museum, New York (2022); The Serpentine Pavilion, London (2022); The Victoria and Albert Museum, London, UK (2021); Whitechapel Gallery, London, UK (2013 and 2021); Tate Liverpool, UK (2020); Haus der Kunst, Munich (2020); Walker Art Center, Minneapolis (2019); Palais de Tokyo Paris, France (2019); Sprengel Museum Hannover, Germany (2018); Kunstmuseum Basel, Switzerland (2018); National Gallery of Art, Washington D.C. (2017); Art Gallery of Ontario, Canada (2016); Fondazione Prada, Milan, Italy (2016); Kunsthau Bregenz, Austria (2016); Punta della Dogana, Venice, Italy (2013).

His “Monument in Waiting” — a sculpture created during the turbulent summer of 2020 and first exhibited at the Parrish Art Museum in Water Mill, New York — was installed on Drexel University’s campus in 2022-23.

In 2010, Mr. Gates founded the Rebuild Foundation, a nonprofit organization that supports artists and strengthens communities by providing free arts programming and creating new cultural amenities in the South Side of Chicago.

As the founder and artistic director of The Black Monks, Mr. Gates performs Black music rooted in the blues, gospel and wailings, and the collective sound of The Black Monks is linked to ascetic practices and Eastern monastic traditions. Through his performance and musical practice, Mr. Gates and his ensemble members act as “amateur historians, senior docents and non-sponsored bootleg preachers.”

His numerous awards and distinctions include the Isamu Noguchi Award in 2023, the Frederick Kiesler Prize for Architecture and the Arts in 2022, an honorary fellowship from the Royal Institute of British Architects in 2021, the World Economic Forum Crystal Award in 2020, the J.C. Nichols Prize for Visionaries in Urban Development and the Nasher Sculpture Prize in 2018.

He received a BS in urban planning and ceramics and an MS in urban planning from Iowa State University and an MS in fine arts and religious studies from the University of Cape Town.

For his visionary leadership on the overlapping frontiers of art, history and architecture, Drexel University is proud to present Theaster Gates with the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

Marla J. Gold

Leading Amid Global Pandemics, Elevating Public Health Education

In government, academia and philanthropy, Marla J. Gold, MD, has shaped local responses to HIV/AIDS and COVID-19, improved health care for countless patients and guided thousands of students pursuing careers in public health, medicine and social services.

Currently senior vice provost for community health and chief wellness officer at Drexel, Dr. Gold oversees population health and wellness including COVID-19 operations and campus wellness. She is also dean emerita of Drexel's Dana and David Dornsife School of Public Health, where she is a tenured professor.

In the early 1990s, she served as assistant health commissioner for infectious disease control in Philadelphia's Public Health Department, where she managed all reportable and communicable diseases in the city and oversaw immunizations and grantmaking in the region for the Ryan White Comprehensive AIDS Resources Emergency Act. During this period, she worked to establish a comprehensive system of HIV care for under- and uninsured Philadelphians.

In 1996, she created and led an innovative, interdisciplinary clinical practice for persons with HIV/AIDS. The resulting Partnership Comprehensive Care Practice is one of the nation's largest regional comprehensive HIV programs. She served as chief of the Division of HIV/AIDS Medicine and vice chair of the Department of Medicine at the former MCP-Hahnemann Medical School, a predecessor of Drexel's College of Medicine.

As dean of the Drexel University School of Public Health starting in 2002, Dr. Gold helped the school gain recognition as the region's first highly ranked, fully accredited school of public health and begin addressing issues of health equity while integrating education, research and practice to eliminate racial and ethnic health disparities.

The school established the A.J. Drexel Autism Institute, the only program in the U.S. that studies autism through a public health lens. The school's Center for Hunger Free Communities addresses links between poverty and hunger, while the Center for Violence Prevention and Social Justice advances trauma-informed approaches to victims of violence.

Honors include the U.S. Public Service Assistant Secretary of Health Award for outstanding service to persons with HIV/AIDS, the Sisterhood Award from the National Commission of Christians and Jews, and Health Care Provider of the Year in Pennsylvania from the Veterans of Foreign Wars. She has been listed as a "Top Doctor" for women with HIV/AIDS, in Philadelphia magazine.

She received a BS from Fairleigh Dickinson University and an MD from the University of Medicine and Dentistry New Jersey and completed an internal medicine residency and infectious disease fellowship at the Medical College of Pennsylvania, now part of the Drexel University College of Medicine.

For providing leadership advancing clinical services and a strategic vision for public health in the region and for promoting academic excellence intertwined with community service, Drexel University is proud to confer upon Dr. Marla J. Gold the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

Charles P. Pizzi

Champion of Commerce, Community and Philadelphia

For several decades, Charlie Pizzi has played integral roles in shaping the commercial climate in and around Philadelphia, building and maintaining connections that benefit the public and the regional economy.

Mr. Pizzi was president, CEO and director of Tasty Baking Company — the producer of Philadelphia's iconic Tastykake desserts and snacks — from 2002 to 2011. Before the company's eventual sale in 2011, he secured investments to move production from an outdated 88-year-old plant in Hunting Park to a state-of-the-art bakery in Philadelphia's booming Navy Yard that continues to produce the beloved treats.

Serving as president and CEO of the Chamber of Commerce for Greater Philadelphia from 1989 until 2002, Mr. Pizzi grew the organization's membership base, demonstrating skills as a community builder and collaborator. In his final year with the chamber, he led a "Briefcase Brigade" featuring hundreds of professionals and entrepreneurs who marched down Market Street in a successful effort to persuade City Council to trim Philadelphia's wage tax.

From 2006 through 2011, Mr. Pizzi served on the board of directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, concluding his tenure with two years as chairman.

While serving as Philadelphia's commerce director early in his career, Mr. Pizzi led efforts to expand Philadelphia International Airport and came up with a plan that convinced Cigna Corporation to keep its headquarters in the city by renting out the company's old headquarters as municipal offices.

Mr. Pizzi has been a member of the Drexel University Board of Trustees since 1993 and serves on the Audit, Buildings & Properties and Complex Transactions committees.

Currently the chairman of the board of Independence Blue Cross and AmeriHealth Caritas, Mr. Pizzi also serves on the boards of numerous major corporations and institutions: Pennsylvania Real Estate Investment Trust; Brandywine Realty Trust; Mistras; and FSEP. A trustee of the Philadelphia Belt Line Railroad, Mr. Pizzi has also served on the Philadelphia Advisory Board of PNC Bank. He also previously served as a director of the Philadelphia Stock Exchange, Allied Security Holdings, PHH Corporation, and chair of WHYY.

He received the Philadelphia Police Foundation's Founders Award in 2019, and he was named an "Outstanding Director" by the Philadelphia Business Journal and received the William Penn Award from the Chamber of Commerce for Greater Philadelphia in 2010.

Mr. Pizzi received a bachelor's degree from La Salle University and a master's degree from the University of Pennsylvania.

For his leadership in building economic opportunity in Philadelphia and his support for institutions that spur innovation and enhance civic life, Drexel University is proud to present Charles P. Pizzi with the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

HISTORY of DREXEL UNIVERSITY

In the closing decades of the 19th century, Philadelphia financier and philanthropist Anthony J. Drexel envisioned an institution of higher learning uniquely suited to the needs of a rapidly growing industrial society and of the young men and women seeking their place in it. In 1891, he realized his vision with the establishment of the Drexel Institute of Art, Science and Industry.

In founding the Institute, Anthony J. Drexel launched a tradition of innovation, which Drexel University carries on today. Although distinguished by more than 125 years of growth and change, the University remains faithful to its founder's vision. Its expanded enrollment, campuses and curriculum reflect a determination to answer societal and individual needs, which Mr. Drexel sought to address in his day.

Originally a non-degree-granting institution, Drexel began conferring the Bachelor of Science degree in 1914, when its 18 departments were organized into four schools. In 1927, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania granted Drexel the privilege to confer the Master of Science degree, and in 1965, doctoral degrees. Drexel has undergone two changes in name, in 1936 becoming Drexel Institute of Technology and in 1970, Drexel

University. The current name reflects the institution's commitment to research, as well as the breadth of its graduate programs.

Since its founding, Drexel has remained a privately controlled, nonsectarian, coeducational center of higher learning, distinguished by a commitment to preparing students for success in their chosen careers.

The cornerstone of this career preparation is the University's cooperative-education program, which provides students with alternate periods of study and full-time professional employment related to their academic and career interests. Launched in 1919, Drexel's co-op program was among the first in the nation, and today it is one of the largest and most diverse, placing students nationally and globally as well as in unique research and entrepreneurial opportunities.

Another constant element in Drexel's identity has been its commitment to providing technological expertise for society's needs. The institution operated around the clock during World War II to serve 3,000+ visiting participants in the Engineering Defense Training Program. Following the war, rapid expansion of knowledge and the nation's drive for technological preeminence continued to drive growth at the University.

In 1983, Drexel became the nation’s first university to require all undergraduates to have personal access to a microcomputer for use in their coursework. Drexel also was the nation’s first major university to operate a fully wireless campus.

Today, Drexel continues to build upon strengths in the fields of science and engineering, preparing professionals for leadership in our global technological community through studies in myriad disciplines. It houses impressive resources for teaching and research, as well as facilities to serve a large and growing population of residential students.

In 2002, Drexel’s mission, services and opportunities expanded when MCP Hahnemann University, a major Philadelphia health sciences institution, became Drexel University College of Medicine, as well as Drexel’s College of Nursing and Health Professions and the Dana and David Dornsife School of Public Health. This historic relationship allowed productive synergies in teaching and research.

In 2006, Drexel became the first major research university in 25 years to open a new law school. Receiving American Bar Association accreditation in 2011, it is one of only two law schools to follow a co-operative model. In 2014, the school was named for Philadelphia attorney Thomas R. Kline, a nationally renowned trial litigator, in recognition of his landmark gift.

In 2011, the University announced a groundbreaking affiliation with the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia, the nation’s oldest major natural history museum and a world leader in natural sciences research. The move has opened new opportunities for teaching, research and community education for both institutions.

A desire to bring its innovative brand of education to students everywhere resulted in the establishment of online academic programs in 2002. Drexel became the first university with a freestanding, degree-granting entrepreneurship school when it launched the Charles D. Close School of Entrepreneurship in 2013.

Meanwhile, the institution’s dedication to health care education and community service continued to grow with Drexel’s acquisition, in partnership with Tower Health, of St. Christopher’s Hospital for Children in 2019 and the construction in 2021 of a regional medical campus in West Reading known as the Drexel University College of Medicine at Tower Health.

The University’s progress has accelerated over the past decade with the construction of offices, life sciences labs, classrooms and public spaces in Drexel’s Schuylkill Yards and uCity Square developments. These improvements set the stage for an innovation economy centered in West Philadelphia, advancing Drexel’s partnerships with industry and its status as an R1 research institute.

Drexel University enrolls more than 22,000 full- and part-time students in programs leading to associate’s, bachelor’s, master’s, doctoral and professional degrees, including MD and JD. The University’s record of success to date promises an auspicious future and testifies to the genius of Anthony J. Drexel’s vision, which has shaped the growth of the institution since its inception.

The land on which Drexel University stands is Lenape land, and we pay respect and honor to the caretakers of this land, from time immemorial until now, and into the future. We openly recognize the Lenape Indian tribe as the original inhabitants of eastern Pennsylvania. Acknowledging this history is consistent with the University’s commitment to diversity and inclusion. Drexel recognizes the historical links between the land on which the University sits and the Lenape peoples. We honor and respect the enduring relationship that exists between these peoples and nations and this land. This land acknowledgment is one small act in the ongoing process of working to be in good relationship with the land and the people of the land.
