CONTINUING EDUCATION FOR STAFF AND ADMINISTRATORS IN LONG-TERM CARE FACILITIES

Health employers are increasingly recognizing micro-credentials (mini-courses) as proof of continuous learning and adaptability.

Drexel University's Dornsife School of Public Health offers five micro-credentials for front-line staff and administrators working in long-term care facilities like skilled nursing facilities, senior living centers, and veterans homes.

Each micro-credential is:

- Online and self-paced
- Designed for quick, specialized training
- Approved for continuing education credits
- Affordable cost ($149)
- Suitable for individuals or groups

These short courses are a good fit for administrators, nurses, social workers, licensed professional counselors, certified nursing assistants, medical assistants, and other healthcare support staff.

LONG-TERM CARE MICRO-CREDENTIALS:

Vaccines

Clinical Knowledge in Long-Term Care

Infectious Disease in Long-Term Care

Emergency Management in Long-Term Care Facilities

Infection Control and Prevention

LEARN MORE:

Visit drexel.edu/dornsife/micro-credentials or scan the QR code.

DREXEL UNIVERSITY
Dornsife
School of Public Health