New International Student Orientation: Navigating the American Classroom

This session covers academic resources available to international students in preparation for some of the academic challenges they may face when entering a U.S. classroom for the first time. We will explore the different types of American teaching methods students may experience, how to make the most of a syllabus, class participation & attendance, and more. Campus partners include the Library, the Academic Resource Center, Information Technology, and Inter-College Advising.
