Workshop: Tips for Online Student Success

Jonathan Deutsch, CNHP & Quality Matters Coordinator
Allie Humphries, CLASS
Deirdre McMahon, Graduate College & COAS

Oct 11, 2023
Tips for Online Student Success

You’re Not Alone: Grad Challenges

Drexel MA Students Fall 2022

Retention/Graduation Rates

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>One-year retained or graduated</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>(face-to-face)</td>
<td>90.6%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(online)</td>
<td>74.4%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

One-Year-Out Outcomes

- Post-graduate outcomes:
  - 4%
  - 4%

- Overall job satisfaction:
  - 92%

- Average annual salary:
  - $85,836

---

Source: Drexel Office of Institutional Research
BALANCING

- Work responsibilities
- Family responsibilities
- Finances
  - As of 2021, graduate students accounted for 15% of the total student population in higher education in the U.S.—and 40% of the student loan borrowers. (EAB, July 2021)
- Competition
- Isolation
- Sheer workload involved...
TIME MANAGEMENT & CARVING OUT A SCHEDULE
DISSECTING THE SYLLABI

- Why is it important?
  - Objectives for the course
  - Grading scales
  - Assignments/Due Dates!

- What to do with this information?
  - Organize the assignments

- Make the syllabus work for you!
DISSECTING THE SYLLABI

- Make notes of all the assignments and due dates

- What is due during what week? (Compare with other classes.)
  Are there weeks with multiple assignments due?

- What are the weekly expectations for work?
  Weekly readings?
  Weekly videos/lectures?
  Discussion boards?
DISSECTING THE SYLLABUS

- How can you organize all of this information?
- What do you use?
Tips for Online Student Success

Study Tools

Passive study tools
- Reading the textbook
- Reviewing the PowerPoint
- Reading your notes

Active study tools
- Allow you to engage with the material you are learning.
- Put information in new and memorable format
- Increase comprehension and retention
- Keep study process engaging
STUDY TOOLS

▪ What do Active Study Tools look like?
  ▪ Flashcards
  ▪ Outline
  ▪ Timeline
  ▪ Chart or Diagram
  ▪ Mnemonic

▪ Anything else?
STUDY TOOLS

- You know what active study tools are.....now what? Plan out your studying!
  - How will you study each class?
  - What formats make sense for what class?
  - How long will you study for?
  - What will you do each study session?
LEVERAGING FACULTY OFFICE HOURS

What are faculty office hours?

- Online/zoom/hybrid
- “By appointment”
- Ask what the department/prof’s culture is
LEVERAGING FACULTY OFFICE HOURS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>When NOT to use office hours</th>
<th>When to use office hours</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>• “Ready reference”/Google-able</td>
<td>• Gaps in understanding</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• If it’s on the syllabus</td>
<td>• Discuss assignment feedback</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• If a classmate can help</td>
<td>• Accommodations/learning preferences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Individual “make up” classes. “Did I miss anything?”</td>
<td>• Build relationship/mentorship</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Complaints with no constructive suggestion</td>
<td>• Express concerns</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Tips for Online Student Success
LEVERAGING FACULTY OFFICE HOURS

- Give Prof a heads up that you’ll be visiting
  - Move to the top of the queue
  - Advance preparation/resources
- Come prepared: documents, textbook, etc.
- Propose an agenda. Be specific.
  - Not “I’m confused” but “I’m confused about...”
- Join with students expressing similar confusion
- Offer suggestions. We are also here to learn.
- Overall: We wouldn’t be here if we didn’t want to help
- Office hours are an extension of the classroom
BOOSTING ENGAGEMENT & INTERACTION

Differences between UG and Grad

▪ Fewer classes
▪ Less time on task (labs/activities/studios)
▪ More “life” issues/competing demands (especially online students)
▪ More reading/thinking/writing/processing individually
BOOSTING ENGAGEMENT & INTERACTION

- You get out as much or more than you put in
- Grad Profs typically don’t monitor or manage your engagement
- Imposter syndrome. Authentic self
- Sitting with complexity. Time to think/process. Complex issues without easy solutions.
- Eye on the prize—put the class in context.
- What motivates you as an individual? What is the best way for you to engage? Reading, writing, thinking, discussing?
BOOSTING ENGAGEMENT & INTERACTION

Types of Interaction
- Learner-Content
- Learner-Instructor
- Learner-Learner

Where are you most comfortable? What can you do to better engage at each level?
TIPS FOR ONLINE STUDENTS TO WORK SUCCESSFULLY IN VIRTUAL GROUPS

Working in groups for class assignments can sometimes be difficult, especially for the online learner. Follow these useful tips to help guide you into a more successful virtual group dynamic!

When possible, choose group members with similar schedules. Online students reside in different time zones and can have opposing work schedules.

Be proactive and begin setting the groundwork early. As online learners, your time is extremely precious.

Align group roles and responsibilities with individual strengths and interests.
Tips for Online Student Success

BUILD A NETWORK OF SUPPORT

GET TO KNOW YOUR CLASSMATES & INSTRUCTORS
Connecting with online professors and classmates is much easier than you might think, given the many communications tools available for doing just that. Take the power of social media, for example, for communicating offline communication with your fellow Dragons. In addition to Drexel University Online’s “official” sites, our students often create their own social media trails for studying together or bonding with each other. You might want to create a Facebook study group or use an application like Google+ Hangouts for video-chatting in real time, while also sharing notes and outside resources.

ASK FOR HELP WHEN YOU NEED IT
You will probably feel frustrated at times, especially when the material, assignments, and technologies are confusing, overwhelming, or both. On top of that, life can and sometimes will get in the way of your studies because of urgent situations like illness, family problems, or work emergencies. That’s why it’s crucial to reach out and ask for help from your professors, your peers, and your advisor – via phone, email, or Skype – before things get out of hand.

USE AVAILABLE SUPPORT SERVICES
Drexel has plenty of campus support services that are easily accessible to online students, as well, such as the award-winning W.W. Hagerty Library, 24/7 tech support, the Writing Center, and the Steinbright Career Center. Take time now to explore these resources and use them as needed.

STAY CONNECTED TO FAMILY & FRIENDS
Because there will undoubtedly be times when you think that you’ll never make it over the finish line, you will need an enthusiastic squad of family members and friends to lift your spirits and cheer you on when the going gets tough. Indeed, as social creatures, our mental and physical health is always better when we enjoy meaningful relationships at home, at work, and out in the community. So build in time to reach out and engage with those closest to you.
At the Graduate College, we care about your overall health and well-being because we know it is critical to your success. Drexel offers several resources and services, including online/virtual and in-person, to help support you throughout your program, whether you're full-time, part-time or online. When in doubt, reach out!

SupportLinc

SupportLinc, a 24/7 confidential and professional service for support, guidance, counseling, and resources, is available to all graduate students and their families and household members at no cost. Services include short-term counseling, dependent/elder care, retirement coaches, housing, travel, home repair referrals, legal services, and more!

Center for Learning & Academic Success Services (CLASS)

Drexel's Center for Learning & Academic Success Services (CLASS) offers resources specifically geared for online student success. Resources include remote learning and time management tips and downloadable planning tools.

Self-Help Resources

In addition to the services provided by Counseling and Health, you may need help in finding additional information about other resources, both on and off-campus. You will find presentations and handouts on a variety of mental health topics and links to additional information online. Self-Help Resources include tips for coping with anxiety and stress, mindfulness, relationships, adjusting to college, and more.

Additional Health & Wellness Resources

Check out the Graduate College's Health & Wellness page for additional resources for graduate students including links to resources on this page.