Expand Your Network. Be Exposed to New Ideas. Find Mentorship.
Join the Drexel University Thomas R. Kline School of Law Inn of Court

Q. What is an Inn of Court?

A. An association of lawyers, judges, law professors, and law students dedicated to professional excellence. Our Inn is affiliated with the national American Inns of Court organization. There are Inns across the country, and Inns in England that date from the 14th century.

Q. How does joining the Inn benefit me?

A. You have the opportunity to network with judges, lawyers from multiple practice areas, and law professors. You will be provided with opportunities for mentorship from distinguished members of the bench and bar. Also, the Inns of Court are well-known and recognized by attorneys across the country, including future employers, as a hallmark of dedication to excellence.

Q. What would I do as part of an Inn of Court?

A. You will be part of our regular meetings which offer networking and socialization, mentorship, and education through presentations on a variety of legal issues. You will also be placed into a pupillage group.

Q. When and where are the meetings?

A. Most of the meetings are approximately monthly on Tuesday evenings.

Q. How to I join?

A. Email your resume to: scott.berger@colorado.edu.
