It is a violation of the Code of Conduct for students to collaborate, seek assistance from another person, or give assistance to another person on any type of exam. This includes seeking or providing information about an exam the student has not taken yet (i.e., a deferred exam). Students should be especially cognizant in shared spaces such as the library, as there may be students present who have not taken the exam.

In-Class Exams

- Students must sit at least one seat apart.
- Students should arrive at least 15 minutes early to get settled and be present for announcements.
- Students are not permitted to bring prohibited materials into the exam room. Students are not permitted to use, or be in possession of, prohibited materials at any time during the exam.
- All bags, laptop cases/sleeves, prohibited electronics, and other prohibited materials must be left in lockers or the Unsupervised Bag Drop Area.

Take-Home Exams

- Students are not permitted to reserve or appropriate classrooms or vacant offices for take-home exams.
- Students may only reference the materials permitted by the exam instructions.

Accommodated Exams

- Students with accommodations for language or disability will receive their exam times and locations separately by email.
- Accommodations for disability will not be granted in the absence of term-specific paperwork from the Disability Resources office, received by OSA at least one day in advance of the exam.
- Accommodated exams are often in combined rooms. Students are expected to respect and keep the confidentiality of other students' accommodations.
