

Doris Bartuska Collection
Acc. #2002.3

microscope; belonged to Hartwig Kuhlenbeck, long-time WMC/MCP faculty member (Professor of Anatomy and Neurology, 1935-71) and research scientist, n.d.; "Path Lab Univ. Penna" is inscribed on the brass part of one of the lenses; "E. Leitz Wetzler" is on both lenses (manufacturer?); (Doris Bartuska was the executor of Kuhlenbeck's will and was the recipient of his papers and some personal effects.)

plaques in honor of Dr. Doris Bartuska:

MCP Alumnae/i Association Service Award, 1995

MCP Award "In Honor of Her Dedication and Service", 1973-1995

American Association of Clinical Endocrinologists Board of Directors plaque, 1999 wooden student chair/desk from WMC, c. 1950

Box 1:

photograph albums; belonged to Hartwig Kuhlenbeck:

4 albums containing original photographs showing Kuhlenbeck's family, and mostly images he shot while in the German Army during WWI; about half are identified (in German); c. [1900-1920]

7 albums containing copy prints; the subjects are the same as in the four albums noted above, and many are simply copy prints of those originals, but there are a number of prints that are not found in the albums containing original photographs; c [1900-1920]

framed photograph (unglazed) of Hartwig Kuhlenbeck with Tony Bartuska, Doris Bartuska's husband, in the Bartuska's backyard in Philadelphia; both men are wearing uniforms: Kuhlenbeck in his American Army officer's uniform (c. WWII?) and Bartuska in his American Navy officer's uniform (Bartuska was a long-time Navy officer); They are standing in front of an American flag (which is reversed, showing that the image was printed in reverse); According to Dr. Bartuska, Kuhlenbeck enjoyed donning his uniform for any patriotic holiday, and spending time at the Bartuska's home; He would always ask Tony Bartuska to wear his uniform as well; c. 1970 framed photograph of Hartwig Kuhlenbeck in American Army officer's uniform in the Bartuska's backyard, c. 1965

correspondence to Bartuska re: Kuhlenbeck, [1974-86]

photographs, n.d.

Kuhlenbeck memorial service (in Japanese), 1985 book; Amitabha-Sutra (in French and Sanskrit), 1881 (?)

Army hats (envelope style) belonging to Kuhlenbeck: one khaki-colored hat with gold leaf-style pin attached and one olive drab hat, n.d.

Box 2:

correspondence and related material re: Dr. Bartuska's request for a title promotion at WMC and the administration's unwillingness to grant it despite her appropriate credentials, [1966-68] program; To Catch A Thief movie premier fundraiser for WMC, 1955; signed by Cary Grant (lead actor in the film along with Grace Kelly, whose mother Margaret sat on the WMC board)

Bartuska certificates: Pennsylvania Medical Society, AMA Delegate, n.d.

Sherwood Music School (Chicago) Certificate of Registration, 1941

Sherwood Music School Certificate of Proficiency, 1942

AMA materials, 2001

blank letterhead, n.d.

clippings, [1966-02]

curriculum vitae, c. 1996

correspondence, [1956-01]

biographical material, n.d.

invitations, n.d.

1966 Iatrian (yearbook)

diploma: Bucknell University B.S., 1949

Bucknell University Award for Outstanding Achievement in a Chosen Profession, 1998

photographs, 1991

MCP President's Award, 1991

materials re: Distinguished Daughters of Pennsylvania Award, 1988 commencement program, WMC, 1944 family geneology information, n.d.

article, "Thyroid Disease in the Elderly" in Hospital Practice, 1991