Assistant Professor
Technology in Medical Education Group
- Object: DVD: "Video Interview With June Klinghoffer, M.D."
- Date: original footage taped, 2003; edited for DVD and online program, 2006
- Notes: Raw digital video footage of an oral history interview conducted in 2003 was edited and indexed by Dr. Daetwyler in 2006. He made it available online at <http://webcampus.drexelmed.edu/interactive/klinghoffer/>, adding a brief bio sketch of Dr. Klinghoffer. He also made several DVD versions of the edited interview.

June Klinghoffer graduated from the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania in 1945. After an internship and residency at what is now Albert Einstein Medical Center, she returned to Woman's Med and remained on faculty until her retirement. As of this writing she is still an active member of College committees, and is generally acknowledged as the "matriarch" of Woman's Med.
