

HOW INTEGRATED SUPPORTS CAN SUSTAIN AND STRENGTHEN SCHOOLS IN TIMES OF CRISIS

Our nation's public schools face increasing pressure to produce successful graduates amid growing disparities. Critical Conversations in Urban Education will host a panel with school administrators, community coordinators, non-profit partners, researchers, and city leaders to discuss integrated student support approaches to address these issues in urban and rural settings.

Led by Drexel's School of Education faculty and authors of Critical Conditions, Bruce Levine, Kimberly Sterin, and Elaine Weiss, the panel will foster conversation and invite attendee questions on applying lessons learned. The event aims to offer insights for educators, school leaders, researchers, and policymakers on strategies to counter systemic inequities by supporting students, families, and communities through a wraparound approach to education, especially in times of crisis.

Moderators & Authors

Elaine Weiss, PhD Bruce Levine, JD

Kimberly Sterin, PhD

APRIL 8, 2025

7:00 - 8:30 PM ET

ZOOM WEBINAR

FEATURED PANELISTS

Maxwell
Akuamoah-Boateng

Mercedes Olesik

Bria Shelton

Beth Dotson Brown

Benito Matias

RSVP FOR LINK!

HTTPS://BIT.LY/CRITICALCONDITIONS