Program of Study - Global & International Education (MS)

Graduation Date - June 2017

Current Job Title -

Education Consultant

Identify your favorite instructor(s) and course(s) in the Global & International Education masters program and briefly describe why you have chosen them?

Courses:

- EDGI 510: Culture, Society and Education
- EDGI 512: Globalization and Educational Change
- EDGI 514: Education and National Development

"The courses mentioned represented new ideas for me while also inspiring new connections to my professional experiences, interests and projects."

Faculty:

- Seana McGovern, Adjunct Professor
- Rebecca Clothey, PhD, Associate Professor
- Kristy Kelly, PhD, Assistant Clinical Faculty

"The professors mentioned were very knowledgeable in their fields and willing to share their knowledge and resources with students as new ideas merged. In addition, each encouraged students to pursue their own interests and provided timely and relevant feedback on all assignments."

As an Alumni, what did you enjoy most about the Global & International Education program?

"The diversity of subject matter, and the focus on globalization, development, culture and comparative systems of education. I also enjoyed the online interaction, via weekly discussion boards, with colleagues/peers and professors."

How did the MS in Global & International Education program help you to achieve your career goals?

"In working as an education consultant in the international education space, the GIE program has given me a solid background and breadth of experience/exposure to the most critical issues in global and international education today. It has also given me the required credentials expected by potential clients."

Do you have any advice for someone thinking about an education program at Drexel School of Education?

"If you are looking at an online program and aren't sure about the format, you might consider enrolling in a free online mini-course at Drexel to get an idea of what it's like!

In addition, there is so much to learn from professors and colleagues, even when you are only meeting them online - you can make great connections with people even in an online platform. There are multiple opportunities for networking! The Drexel SOE courses are also rigorous and enriching, with much to be learned!"

Lastly, if you had to describe Drexel School of Education in one word, what would that word be?

"Challenging!"
