

DREXEL WELCOMES THE WORLD

As a comprehensive global research university, Drexel has built a legacy around educating civically engaged students who want to develop into driven and ambitious leaders within their field. We are also proud to be ranked as the #2 school for co-ops/internships and among the top 60 private universities in the United States by U.S. News & World Report. We welcome all students from across the globe to experience our campus and community.

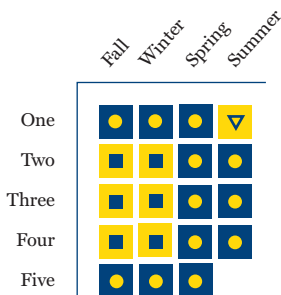

At Drexel, our innovative curriculum is specifically designed to take our students beyond the typical university experience, uniquely preparing them to meet the challenges of an ever-changing world. Through our dynamic academic model and a world-renowned cooperative education program, Drexel provides international students with an educational experience that will fully prepare them to make a meaningful impact on the world, right away.

Innovative Curriculum

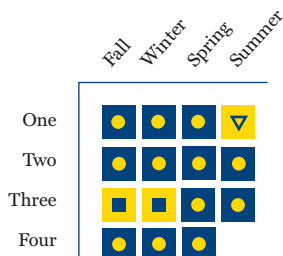

As an R1 research institution, academics at Drexel are presented by world-class faculty who are experts in their fields. We have a rich history of research and innovation, promoting student curiosity and the development of new knowledge. With over 100 majors and as many minors — along with endless ways to combine them — no two students experience Drexel the same way. Many of our students begin graduate-level research as early as their first year, gaining valuable experience and insights working with their peers and mentors right away.

Our combination of world-class education and real-world experience is unparalleled. Drexel's cooperative education program, also known as co-op, enables students to test-drive careers through up to 18 months of work experience before they even graduate. When students come back to the classroom, they return with enhanced knowledge and professional perspectives that they can share with the rest of the Drexel community. The majority of these positions are full-time and paid, and those that are both carry a gross median six-month salary of over $20,000. International students are able to fully participate in the co-op program and gain work experience in both the U.S. and around the world.

Our Community

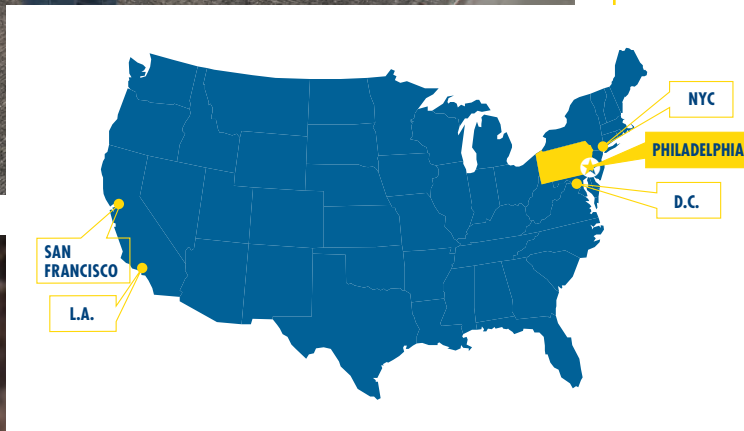

Drexel was founded over 130 years ago in Philadelphia, PA, one of the largest cities in the U.S. and the nation's first World Heritage City. Our location in the heart of Philadelphia gives our students the advantage of pursuing an innovative education in a city that offers students numerous cultural, historical, and social opportunities. As a result, the city serves as an extension of our campus, where students can build strong connections with companies, non-profit organizations, and cultural centers throughout our community.

Philadelphia, located in the heart of the northeastern United States, offers close proximity and strong ties to New York City and Washington, D.C., enabling students to easily explore different American cities and expand their professional networks.

Drexel has a thriving student life, with the opportunity to be involved in over 250 clubs and organizations, including more than 80 identity-based and spiritual/religious organizations, 18 Division I sports teams, and many academic and professional organizations. We also have nine residence halls for students to live in, and our Living Learning Communities help them build closer connections and relationships with other students in their major.

Drexel is also committed to becoming the most civically engaged university in the nation. We have thriving partnerships with philanthropic organizations on local, national, and international levels. Our students come from many diverse backgrounds and places around the world and each contributes a unique piece to our welcoming and inclusive community.
