@vision2020women
@vision2020women
@vision2020women
Brainpower and willpower, united by a common purpose and uncommon commitment — that’s a Vision 2020 National Congress. It’s 48 hours of an action agenda pinpointing the unfinished business of achieving equality for women in the United States.

From coast to coast, Vision 2020’s Delegates, Allied Organizations and special guests will assemble in Miami for a unique “town meeting on tomorrow,” as they have in past years in Philadelphia, Chicago, Portland and Nashville. The Vision 2020 focus areas of shared leadership, economic parity, civic engagement and youth education are always on the table. This year’s National Congress will have a special emphasis on how decisions can be made by and for women on a national level, by adding more seats to the table.

Also on the Miami agenda will be a window to the wonders of Vision 2020’s 50-state centennial celebration of the 19th Amendment, to be conducted in the year 2020. Titled “Women 100: A Celebration of American Women,” it will honor the past, enrich the present and shape the future for new generations of women and girls.
WELCOME!

In this 10th year since Vision 2020 was first imagined, we come to Miami in pursuit of our shared leadership goal, which I believe to be the most game-changing step we can take to close the gap on all other issues related to equality for women.

We recognize the 50/50 gender leadership balance we seek is both fair and ambitious. Bumping our heads on the glass ceiling all these years has not been in vain. A significant breakthrough is near. The focus on making that happen will be intense during our time together in Miami and should reach a crescendo in 2020 with Vision 2020’s Women 100, a celebration of American women during the year in which the 19th Amendment — women’s right to vote — reaches its 100th anniversary.

As leaders, you are demonstrating your commitment by being here for this Vision 2020 National Congress. You'll find the agenda to be participation-friendly. Please do not leave Miami with anything unsaid. We respect your opinion, value your ideas and welcome your presence.

ABOUT OUR COALITION

Vision 2020 is a national women’s equality coalition made up of Delegates and Allied Organizations in all 50 states. The initiative was founded and is administered by the Institute for Women’s Health and Leadership at Drexel University.

Vision and Goals

SHARED LEADERSHIP
Achieve 50-50 shared leadership among women and men in business and government.

ECONOMIC PARITY
Advance women’s economic security by closing the gender gap in pay and retirement income.

CIVIC ENGAGEMENT
Increase the number of women who participate in the political process by voting and running for office.

YOUTH EDUCATION
Educate young people to value gender equality and shared leadership.

The Coalition

ALLIED ORGANIZATIONS
A growing list of organizations committed to advancing women and girls, representing over 20 million members across the nation.

DELEGATES
Leaders in all 50 states who implement state and local projects that advance gender equality.

LEADERSHIP CIRCLE
Individuals who have a personal and professional commitment to the realization of shared leadership among women and men.

NATIONAL ADVISORS
Recognized leaders who lend their names and stature to the Vision 2020 mission.

CONGRESS SPEAKERS AND FACILITATORS

Jewelle Bickford
Jewelle Bickford is one of the founding members and co-chairs of the Paradigm for Parity movement, a coalition of business leaders dedicated to addressing the corporate leadership gender gap. The coalition is made up of CEOs, senior executives, founders, board members and business academics who are committed to achieving a new norm in the corporate world: one in which women and men have equal power, status and opportunity. Their ultimate goal is to achieve full gender parity by 2030. Bickford is a partner and wealth advisor at Evercore Wealth Management. She works closely with the firm’s planning and investment professionals, focusing on family governance, impact investing, and the Wise Women series.

Penelope Blair
Penelope Blair, a senior vice president and private client manager with U.S. Trust, Bank of America Private Wealth Management, works with a team managing loans, investments and deposits for families in the South Florida area and throughout the country. Blair has worked for Bank of America for over 25 years. She received a bachelor’s degree cum laude from Florida International University, majoring in business management and international business. She graduated from the National Graduate Trust School with Honors. She is active in the South Florida community and is on the board at PACE Center for Girls Broward.

Deborah Brittain
Deborah Brittain, a member of Vision 2020’s Leadership Circle, is a sustaining member of the Junior League of Greater Princeton and a former president of the Association of Junior Leagues International. In 2012, Brittain retired as the executive vice president of Pred Corporation, a search firm that places seasoned business executives. She is a life member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, The National Council of Negro Women and The Northern Virginia Urban League. Currently, Brittain serves on the National Advisory Board of The Salvation Army, The New Jersey State Advisory Board of the Salvation Army and the Board of Trustees of Simmons College. She is the associate dean of the Scott-Hawkins Leadership Institute sponsored by The Links, Incorporated, and she serves on the Past Governance Advisory Committee for The Association of Junior Leagues International. Brittain holds a master’s degree from the Simmons School of Social Work and a bachelor’s degree from Howard University.

Dr. Dana Brown
Dr. Dana Brown began her tenure as the executive director of the Pennsylvania Center for Women and Politics and assistant professor of political science at Chatham University in July of 2010. Dr. Brown earned her doctorate in American politics and women and politics at Rutgers University, where she also received her master’s degree in political science. Prior to her work at the Center, she completed a year as a visiting assistant professor of political science at Allegheny College, where she earned her bachelor’s degree in political science. Dr. Brown has presented research on women in politics, political psychology, political media and political participation by women of color. The White House acknowledged her work at the Center by inviting her to participate in a conference on girls’ leadership and civic education.

Don Browne
After 44 years as a journalist and TV executive, Don Browne retired from NBCUniversal and created a media consulting business. Most recently, he was president of Telemundo Communications, a division of NBCUniversal. He oversaw all functions of the network including entertainment, production studios, international, cable, digital, network news and sports as well as 14 local stations. He transformed Telemundo into an original content producer and international syndicator and led the company to the best ratings in its history. He is co-founder of Women of Tomorrow and serves on the Miami Children’s Museum board and the Duke University Fuqua Business School advisory board.

Ted Bunch
Ted Bunch is an educator, activist and lecturer working to end all forms of violence and discrimination against women and girls. Bunch is internationally recognized for his efforts to prevent violence against women while promoting a healthy, respectful manhood. His innovative work laid the groundwork for the prevention strategies now endorsed as best practice in engaging men to end violence against women. Bunch is an adviser to the National Football League, National Basketball Association, National Hockey League and Major League Baseball, providing policy consultation and facilitating violence prevention and healthy manhood training. Bunch was a guest presenter for the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women and the United Nations Alliance of Civilizations, and an international lecturer for the U.S. State Department.
Camila Cote
Camila Cote serves as the office managing partner for the Miami office of EY and oversees approximately 300 professionals across EY’s service lines of Tax, Advisory, Assurance and Transaction Advisory. She is responsible for helping people have all the tools necessary to execute their role in achieving EY’s purpose of building a better working world by equipping them with the resources and insights they need to provide exceptional service to their clients. As a partner in EY’s Assurance practice, Cote has over 20 years of experience with financial statement auditing, including integrated audits, registration statements and technical consultations. She is significantly involved in the inclusiveness efforts for the Southeast region and deeply invested in the Miami community. She serves in various community activities and professional trade organizations including the United Way of Miami-Dade, the Association of Latino Professionals for America and the American and Florida Institute of CPAs.

Gloria Feldt
Gloria Feldt is co-founder and president of Take The Lead, whose mission reflects her life’s passion: to prepare, develop, inspire and propel women to take their fair and equal share of leadership positions by 2025. She is the bestselling author of four books; the latest is “No Excuses: 9 Ways Women Can Change How We Think About Power.” She also is an in-demand keynote speaker and teaches “Women, Power, and Leadership” at Arizona State University. Former president and CEO of the world’s largest reproductive health and advocacy organization, Planned Parenthood Federation of America, she was named Vanity Fair’s “America’s Top 200 Women Leaders, Legends, and Trailblazers,” Glamour “Woman of the Year” and Forbes “40 Over 40.”

Page Gardner
Page Gardner is the founder and president of the Voter Participation Center, a research-driven, non-profit and non-partisan organization dedicated to increasing the participation of unmarried women and other historically underrepresented groups in our democracy. An expert in the voting patterns of women voters who has dedicated her career to increasing the share of unmarried women in the electorate, Gardner has worked at senior levels for the most competitive presidential, senatorial, gubernatorial and congressional campaigns in all parts of the country during her 20 years’ experience as a political and communications manager and strategist. Gardner has been credited with designing and implementing some of the most creative and successful issue and legislative campaigns in recent memory, as well as staging come-from-behind candidate victories in key battleground races. She is regarded as one of the top strategists in the country.

Pamela Goodman
Pamela Goodman currently serves as president/CEO of Ruth’s List Florida. Educated at the University of Iowa in journalism and business, Goodman spent her professional career in retailing, rising to president/CEO of Limited Express, with $1.5 billion in revenue and over 850 stores nationwide. She served as president of the League of Women Voters of Palm Beach County from 2005-2009 and on the League of Women Voters of Florida board of directors from 2007-2018. Since 2006, she chaired the Fair Districts campaign statewide for the League of Women Voters of Florida and was responsible for coordinating all League work during the campaign to secure passage of the two constitutional amendments. She then continued through 2015 to work with all litigation on the issue and the passage of current redistricting maps for Florida Senate and Congressional districts.

Karen Kaplowitz
Karen Kaplowitz, a member of Vision 2020’s Leadership Circle, has been an advocate for civil rights throughout her professional life. She brought a landmark Title VII lawsuit challenging the failure of her law school to bar discriminatory law firms, Kaplowitz vs. University of Chicago. She co-founded one of the first women-owned law firms in Los Angeles. Her civil rights work was recognized by California Women Lawyers with the first Fay Stender Award in 1982. She has organized the Legal Momentum Aiming High Awards, which have honored over 100 of the most powerful women business leaders since 2001. In 1997, Kaplowitz founded The New Ellis Group, which advises law firm partners on business development strategy.

David Lau
David Lau is senior associate, corporate engagement and project manager at Catalyst. He joined Catalyst Canada in 2009. In his current role, he provides advice and consultation to Catalyst Supporter Organizations, helping them to leverage Catalyst’s expertise and resources to create inclusive workplaces. Lau is also a core member of the Catalyst Awards Committee, Catalyst’s global recognition program honoring innovative organizational initiatives to help drive progress in advancing women in the workplace. Lau holds an MSc in sociology from the London School of Economics. He also holds an honors bachelor’s degree in sociology and sexual diversity studies from the University of Toronto.
Charlotte Laurent-Ottomane
Based in France, Charlotte Laurent-Ottomane led investor relations and capital market strategies for Alcatel Lucent up until 2007. She has successfully directed two IPOs, several high-profile mergers and led North American operations for an Alcatel subsidiary. Laurent-Ottomane founded Nvestcom in 2007, a capital markets consulting firm, advising public and private companies on investor relations, diversity initiatives and corporate governance. Laurent-Ottomane co-founded the Thirty Percent Coalition in 2011 and serves as its executive director. An influential national organization, the Coalition is a pioneer working to increase the gender, racial and ethnic diversity in senior leadership and the boardroom across corporate America. Laurent-Ottomane holds a bachelor’s degree from Georgia State University and a master of business administration from École des Ponts Business School.

Joyce Lewandowski
In her role as the program director for Vision 2020, Lewandowski directs the Shared Leadership Campaign and the Youth Education Initiative while working closely with the executive director to plan and implement the Women 100 celebration. Lewandowski also serves as Vision 2020’s primary liaison to Delegates and Allied Organizations, helping them to organize, facilitate and align their work to advance Vision 2020 goals. Over the past 12 years in the field of education, Lewandowski has worked as an administrator in student life, leadership development, equity and inclusion, residential life and career development. Before returning to her roots in the Philadelphia area, Lewandowski lived in New York City, where she held previous positions at Barnard College, The Masters School and The City College of New York. She holds a bachelor’s degree in speech communication from Millersville University and a master’s degree in student affairs in higher education from Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Ashley Lunkenheimer
Ashley Lunkenheimer was a 2018 Democratic candidate who sought election to the U.S. House to represent the 5th Congressional District of Pennsylvania. Lunkenheimer is a former federal prosecutor, and she spent almost 10 years working as an assistant U.S. attorney in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. She has also worked as senior counsel at AmeriHealth Caritas, working to expand Medicaid in Pennsylvania. Lunkenheimer earned her juris doctorate from the University of Pennsylvania, her master’s degree in social work from Columbia University and her bachelor’s degree from Amherst College.

Kathleen McFadden
Kathleen McFadden is the communications director for Vision 2020, overseeing all external communications and marketing initiatives. In her role at Vision 2020, McFadden manages media relations, social media, the monthly e-newsletter, speaking engagements and the Vision 2020 website, as well as providing assistance with special events, programming and fundraising. Prior to joining the Vision 2020 team, McFadden worked at public relations agencies leading global and national communications campaigns for companies including Johnson & Johnson, Bank of America, Pepper Hamilton LLP and CardConnect. She holds a bachelor’s degree in communication from Villanova University.

Alison Nolan
Alison Nolan brings over 20 years of experience in fundraising and marketing to her role as executive director of Vision 2020. In this role, she is responsible for raising funds to support the mission and initiatives of Vision 2020. Prior to joining Vision 2020, Nolan spent 10 years as director of special events and corporate relations for Waldron Mercy Academy, where she managed large fundraising events and solicited individuals and corporations for major gifts. Prior to her fundraising career, Nolan spent over 10 years in food and beverage marketing and sales roles at companies including Campbell Soup, Tropicana and Kellogg’s. She is a graduate of Loyola University with a degree in communications and business.

Dianne Semingson
Following successful careers in both the public and private sectors, Dianne Semingson founded DLS International in 1992. DLS partners with CEOs and chief marketing officers to provide strategic market planning, marketing communications and business development services to the region’s most recognizable corporations, foundations and community organizations. Prior, Semingson served the City of Philadelphia as city representative and a member of the Mayor’s cabinet. As regional director for the U.S. Department of Commerce, she oversaw economic development programs in the six-state Mid-Atlantic Region. Upon leaving government, she was named director, government and industry affairs for ARCO Chemical Company. A graduate of the University of Oregon with a bachelor’s degree in urban social policy and public administration, Semingson has completed executive management programs at Duke, Harvard and Northwestern universities. She is the chair of Vision 2020’s Women 100, a celebration of American women during the year 2020, and a member of the Leadership Circle.
Dr. Donna E. Shalala
Dr. Donna E. Shalala has spent her entire life fighting to improve the lives of others. Dr. Shalala is the former president of the University of Miami and she has advocated tirelessly for women's rights, civil rights, increased access to health care, better education and schools and a clean, sustainable environment. She was appointed by President Clinton to serve as the U.S. Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS) where she served for eight years, becoming the longest serving HHS Secretary in U.S. history. Dr. Shalala has lived in Pinecrest and Coral Gables for 17 years and is unapologetic in her love for South Florida's natural beauty, its rich culture and its diverse people.

Mark Steinman
Mark Steinman, a member of Vision 2020’s Leadership Circle, is vice president of investments at Raymond James. Steinman combines client-focused service with state-of-the-art theories of risk management, portfolio construction and diversification. Steinman has over 25 years of management experience and has advised his clients through the boom of bull markets and the despair of bear markets. Dedicated to continually enhancing his industry knowledge, Steinman entered the financial services industry after earning his bachelor’s degree in economics from Pennsylvania State University in 1991. Steinman serves on the Investment Committee for Child Guidance Resource Centers and offers his time volunteering for Cradles to Crayons in Conshohocken, Pennsylvania.

Dr. Page Talbott
Dr. Page Talbott, curator and project manager for Vision 2020’s Women 100 interactive exhibition, is a public historian, specializing in American material culture and an experienced interpretive and exhibition planner. She holds a bachelor’s degree from Wellesley College, a master’s degree from the University of Delaware/Winterthur Program in American material culture, and master’s and doctorate degrees in American civilization from the University of Pennsylvania. Currently a senior fellow at Drexel University’s Center for Cultural Partnerships and principal of Talbott Exhibits and Planning, she previously served as president of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. She has served as senior project manager to assist the Barnes Foundation with its collection move to Philadelphia, consulting curator for Moore College of Art & Design, consultant for the Philadelphia documentary company History Making Productions, and planning consultant for dozens of historical organizations.

Shaneice Simmons
Shaneice Simmons is Rock the Vote’s associate director of civic engagement and a leading advocate for the power of young people. She oversees and builds all strategic partnerships with other nonprofit organizations, developing collaborative opportunities to increase youth civic engagement and empower the next generation of voters. Prior to joining Rock the Vote two years ago, Simmons worked in marketing and advertising, developing initiatives for both online and in-person activations for brands such as Coca-Cola. Simmons received her bachelor’s degree in communications, with a concentration in public relations, from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte.

Linda K. Stone
Linda Stone has a passion for helping women make prudent financial decisions around retirement. Stone is a fellow at Women’s Institute for a Secure Retirement (WISER), on whose behalf she is a frequent speaker on the unique issues facing women as they prepare for retirement. She works with the Society of Actuaries on projects such as retirement risks and financial literacy. Stone was a managing principal leading the East Retirement Practice at an international human resource consulting firm. She graduated from St. Joseph’s University with a degree in mathematics and economics. She belongs to the Forum of Executive Women.

Joycelyn Tate
Joycelyn Tate is a technology policy advocate and strategist. She is the president of Tate Strategies, where she develops law and policy advocacy strategies for non-profit and public service organizations. She is the co-founder of MakeIT4Change Innovation Hub, an organization that provides creative space and resources for youth and adults to work together to develop technology for social change. Tate is also the senior technology policy advisor for the Black Women’s Roundtable, where she advocates for laws and policies that advance entrepreneurship and employment for women and minorities in the tech industry. She also serves as a member of the International Telecommunications Advisory Committee at the U.S. Department of State, where she is an advisor on international telecommunications and information policy matters.
CONGRESS SPEAKERS AND FACILITATORS

Jennifer Valoppi
Jennifer Valoppi is a multi-Emmy Award winning TV journalist, award winning author and social entrepreneur who has been recognized eight times on the floor of the United States Congress and is a recipient of former Florida Governor Jeb Bush’s Points of Light Award, the highest honor in Florida. As president & founder of the Women of Tomorrow Mentor & Scholarship Program, which celebrated its 20th anniversary in the 2017/18 school year, Valoppi directs the mentoring of 4,400 at-risk girls in close to 200 public high schools in dozens of cities in South Florida, Metro Detroit and Philadelphia, with a network of hundreds of highly accomplished professional women as mentors. Women of Tomorrow is considered a model for the nation and has awarded over $6 million dollars in college scholarships to graduates of the program.

Dr. Renée White
Dr. Renée White, a member of Vision 2020’s Leadership Circle, is provost at Wheaton College, where she serves as the college’s chief academic officer and is responsible for all matters relating to the faculty as well as the administrative units providing academic support services and infrastructure to students, faculty and staff. Dr. White served as the dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Simmons College in Boston. Dr. White is the editor of three books, including the acclaimed “Spoils of War: Women of Color, Cultures, and Revolutions,” and author of “Putting Risk in Perspective: Black Teenage Lives in the Era of AIDS.” She has served as editor of the Journal of HIV/AIDS Prevention in Children & Youth and the People of Color Caucus newsletter for the Society for Values in Higher Education. She also served as editorial advisor to the Journal of HIV/AIDS and Social Services.

Lynn Yeakel
Lynn Yeakel is the founder and president of Vision 2020, a national women’s equality initiative headquartered at Drexel University’s Institute for Women’s Health and Leadership, where she serves as director. Yeakel was a founder of Women’s Way, the first and largest women’s fundraising coalition in the nation, and served as its CEO from 1980 until 1992, when she ran for the U.S. Senate. She drew national attention in what was the first “Year of the Woman,” winning the primary and nearly unseating the longtime incumbent. In 1994, she was appointed by President Clinton to the position of Mid-Atlantic regional director for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Yeakel is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate and former trustee of Randolph-Macon Woman’s College and received a Master of Science in management from American College.

Lea Webb
Lea Webb is an activist who bridges the gap between the community and government agencies to bring about positive and lasting change. Her greatest achievement includes being elected as the first — and youngest — African-American representative in the Binghamton City Council. She has 20 years of experience as a community organizer on various social justice issues. She has passed legislation supporting equal pay for women, a city-based human rights commission, a city-wide climate action plan and other equity-based legislation. Through her consulting firm, she works with non-profits, education institutions and businesses in creating culturally responsive organizations. She was recognized as one of Tomorrow’s Leaders by Oprah magazine and The White House Project and was given the President’s Award by the Broome-Tioga Branch of the NAACP. She’s the president of the Broome County Urban League Young Professionals and an alumna of the Young Elected Officials Network.

Faith Winter
Faith Winter is a Colorado state representative, executive director of Emerge Colorado and consultant for VoteRunLead. Winter has spent her career inspiring people to action, whether it is the thousands of women she trained to run for office at The White House Project, the young voters she turned out in 2004 or the constituents she engages on important issues. In 2004, Winter was named one of 50 people under 50 showing political leadership by the Youth Vote Coalition. She has also been named one of the top 10 most influential women in Denver by the Denver Examiner, Woman of the Year by Colorado Business and Professional Women Northwest Chapter, one of the up-and-coming women leaders to watch by the Denver Post, and a rising star by the Colorado Democratic Party.

IN MEMORIAM

Vision 2020 is saddened by the loss of two Vision 2020 Delegates over the past two years.

Carmen Delgado Votaw
Delgado Votaw, a leading advocate for women’s rights both nationally and internationally, was a Vision 2020 Delegate from Maryland and a charter member of Vision 2020’s Leadership Circle.

Beth Farokhi
Farokhi, a prominent educator who was passionate about women’s leadership and gender equity, was a Vision 2020 Delegate from Georgia.

All of us at Vision 2020 express our sorrow at the passing of our colleagues and we thank their families for sharing their commitment with us.
Forward thinking got you here. And it’s what will fuel a future of possibilities.

People who are moving the world forward, these are the kinds of people who build our success at EY. We’re pleased to sponsor and participate in the Vision 2020 Congress, Miami. Enjoy the event.

We’re investing in women who are invested in creating a better world

At Bank of America, we continue to invest every day in helping women make meaningful contributions within our company and in our communities. This includes bringing talented women to our company, developing our employees, and supporting the economic empowerment of women around the world.

We have a variety of networks and career development programs — including the Women’s Executive Development program — to enable our colleagues to do their best work and develop the skills they need to grow into future roles.

And through partnerships with Vital Voices, the Tory Burch Foundation, and the Cherie Blair Foundation, we’ve helped nearly 4,000 women from 80 countries grow their businesses and foster economic prosperity.
