A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Let's Act Like the Majority We Are

On September 17, National Constitution Day, I had the pleasure of speaking at the Schemel Forum at the University of Scranton in Northeastern Pennsylvania. The title of my talk was "Let's Act Like the Majority We Are" – a longtime theme for me in addressing women's groups. The large audience was made up of students, faculty, and members of the community, including some men.

During the question-and-answer session after the talk, I received a question I've been asked many times before: What do we do about women who criticize and undermine other women? The question cited the frequent example of Phyllis Schlafly preventing the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment in the 1970s and 80s.

My answer has always remained the same: We must identify and illuminate the many issues that unite us as women, rather than those that divide us. Most (if not all) of us have experienced unfair treatment at some point because of our gender. Many of us have struggled to balance family and work responsibilities. We care about the future for our children and grandchildren, so many of us also share concerns about issues like climate change and gun violence. In sum, I believe we have a variety of shared values.

From its beginning, Vision 2020 decided to focus on common themes – shared leadership among women and men, economic parity, youth education, and women's increased civic engagement. With our national Delegates and Allied Organizations, we have emphasized a commitment to helping women and girls achieve America's promise of equality.

Now, as plans evolve for Vision 2020's Women 100 commemoration of 100 years of women's voting rights, we have much to learn and build on.

We must think and act like the majority we are!

Annual Toast to Tenacity™: A Celebration to Remember

Vision 2020's Toast to Tenacity marking Women's Equality Day, was a memorable event with a capacity crowd for this year's celebration in Philadelphia. Supporters gathered at the Independence Visitor Center overlooking Independence Mall to raise their glasses to honor the courage and persistence of the suffragists who won American women's voting rights 99 years ago.

This year's program included a short preview of the film The 19th Amendment: A Woman's Right to Vote, a project of the Annenberg Public Policy Center at the University of Pennsylvania in support of Women 100.

The preview was followed with welcoming remarks by Lynn Yeakel, Vision 2020's founder and president. She was joined by this year's Toast host and sponsor Lauren P. McKenna, partner, Fox Rothschild LLP.

Tam Williams, Vision 2020 Pennsylvania delegate and Marjorie Solomon, Vision 2020 volunteer, shared with the audience what we believe suffragists Mary Church Terrell and Alice Paul would have said if they were here today. Pennsylvania's State Representative Joanna McClinton spoke about the importance of Pennsylvania's ratification of the 19th Amendment. Dianne Semingson, co-chair, Women 100 Advisory Committee, reported on the committee's activities, and Maria Bomersbach told the story of the Justice Bell.

A special moment came when Vriti Khurana, a member of Drexel University's class of 2020, spoke about what it means for her to vote in a national election for the first time in 2020.

Members of the Vision 2020 national team presented a preview of the events and programs scheduled for Women 100: A National Celebration of American Women. Lynn Yeakel introduced the newest member of the Vision 2020 team, Terese Casey. Terese will serve as Vision 2020's national fundraising consultant.

The program closed with attendees raising their glasses of grape juice along with people around the country to salute the determined women of nearly a century ago. Cheers!

Remembering Cokie Roberts

By Lynn Yeakel

It was with deep sadness that I learned of the passing of veteran broadcast journalist Cokie Roberts, known to millions for her pioneering work on NPR and ABC News.

Cokie was one of the first nationally prominent women to sign on as a Vision 2020 National Advisor a decade ago. She and I also had another connection we discussed: Our fathers served in Congress together and were friends.

Cokie Roberts
1943-2019

An acclaimed author of books like Founding Mothers: The Women Who Raised Our Nation and Capital Dames: The Civil War and the Women of Washington, 1848-1888, she told of the often-overlooked role of women in history.

Cokie Roberts, advocate for women's rights, role model and good friend to Vision 2020, will be sorely missed.

New Film About Women's Struggle to Win the Right to Vote

The Annenberg Public Policy Center at the University of Pennsylvania, an Allied Organization of Vision 2020, recently produced the film The 19th Amendment: A Woman's Right to Vote.

For almost a century and a half of our nation's history, women were barred from exercising this fundamental right. This is a film about their long, difficult struggle to win the right to vote. It's about citizenship, the power of the vote, and why women had to change the Constitution with the 19th Amendment to get the vote. To view the video.

VOTER MOBILIZATION 2020

Let's Break the Record for Women Voter Turnout

Vision 2020 is leading a nonpartisan effort to get women across America registered to vote in 2020 national elections. At all Women 100 events, Vision 2020 will offer voter registration.

The September Meeting of the National Leadership Circle

In September the National Leadership Circle gathered in Philadelphia to discuss the strategic direction for Vision 2020, as well as audience engagement for the Women 100 events and fundraising opportunities. Members in attendance represented six states. This advisory group is comprised of women and men who are leaders in their fields and bring their wisdom and experience to Vision 2020.
